Second Vanguard, Explorer 'Moons' Slated for Firing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Vanguard baby satellite launched St. Patrick's Day may acquire a sister sphere three times as big next month. And before that happens, and probably some time this month, another tubular Explorer satellite may sweep into an orbit.

The Navy was so encouraged with its brilliant launching Monday that it has decided to place a full-scale International Geophysical Year satellite in the nose of the next Vanguard rocket.

This was an abrupt change of plans. Navy officials had said earlier that another midget satellite would be used for the next Vanguard try.

Rear Adm. Rawson Bennett, chief of naval research, reported that the next Vanguard shot would come within the next few weeks. He said it would involve a "full-sized IGY satellite conducting at least two experiments," but that the launching would still be a test rather than an all-out satellite try

* * *

AFTER THAT will come six Vanguard launchings with satellites conducting a greater variety of explorations in space, he said. He added it would be beyond normal expectations to hope that all six would get into successful orbits.

The new Vanguard satellite is making almost 11 full turns around the earth daily, or slightly less than 375,000 miles a day.

Bennett said the Navy intended the satellite to attain an orbit ranging from 300 to 1,500 miles in space, but that its speed was so great it went into a path between 404 and 2,466 miles out.

The IGY full-scale satellite is 20 inches in diameter, compared with 6.4 inches for Vanguard I, and weighs 21½ pounds against 3¼ pounds for the mighty midget.

Although the Air Force kept quiet about it, it was learned that one of the newest guided missiles, a Fairchild Bull Goose, was launched here Tuesday.

A fast weapon difficult to detect in flight visually, the Bull Goose is believed to have the primary purpose of deceiving the enemy by simulating the echo of an airplane on a radar screen.

Ohio Idle Pay List Increases to New Total of 207,380

COLUMBUS (AP)—The number of Ohioans collecting benefits from the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation increased by slightly more than 1,100 last week to a new total of 207,380.

The increase in the last three weeks has been less than 7,000. For the four weeks prior to Feb. 22, the average increase in claimants was 10,000 a week.

The number who filed claims last week was 22,954, the lowest number of newly unemployed in several months.

Slight decreases in the number of unemployed on the BUC rolls was noted in the Canton area, Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo, Bowling Green, Bridgeport, Chillicothe, Coshocton, East Liverpool, Fostoria, Gallipolis, Greenville, Hamilton, Ironton, Logan, Lorain, Marietta, Mount Vernon, Newark, New Philadelphia, Ravenna, Salem, Sidney, Springfield, Steubenville, Warren and Wooster.

New Harness Track Near Here Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Columbus Trotting Assn. hopes to build a one and one-half million dollar harness racing track on a 140 acre site just nine miles south of the heart of Columbus, it was disclosed today.

Charles D. Hill, president of the association, said construction on the five-eighths mile oval will begin as soon as voters in the area approve the project.

Under Ohio law, horse racing tracks need the approval of more than 50 per cent of the voters in the township in which they are to be situated. This track would be at the northeast corner of the intersection of U.S. 23 and Ohio 665 near Shadeville in Hamilton Twp. (Franklin County).

The board of elections says there are approximately 1,450 voters in the township.

Hill said the proposed track will include a dining room and club house, a grandstand seating 3,000, parking facilities for 5,000 cars, lighting for night racing and a stable area for 700 horses.

Hill said he hopes to have the track completed in time for the 1959 racing season.

H-Bomb 'Dad' Sees Error in A-Bomb Use

CLEVELAND (AP) — The United States made a mistake in using the atomic bomb at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Dr. Edward Teller, noted nuclear scientist, said here Tuesday.

Teller, who has been called the father of the H-bomb, made the remark in answer to a question following a speech at a meeting of the trustees of the Ohio Highway and Turnpike Assn.

He said the Japanese should have been warned and that the warning should have been followed by the explosion of a demonstration bomb over Tokyo, then an ultimatum calling for surrender.

Describing the perils of nuclear attack in his speech, Teller said that conflagration in the cities could not be avoided. He urged the building of fireproof shelters capable of being sealed from outside contamination.

He said that if this country could take the shock of a nuclear attack it could survive and it must prepare for survival and recovery.

There will be no attack as long as Russia knows we will survive and recover, he added.

Instant-Summit Talk Brushed Aside by U.S.

America Still Hoping Low-Level Arms Parley To Be Held by April

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States brushed aside Soviet "instant-summit" propaganda today and stuck to its quest for new low-level disarmament talks by April.

Officials said the White House will make clear soon that the new U. S. disarmament negotiator, James J. Wadsworth, is authorized to discuss disarmament at any time with a comparable Soviet representative.

They said Wadsworth's instructions are simply to (1) keep the Allies informed of whatever he does, and (2) get the disarmament deadlock off dead center.

These officials expected a United Nations Disarmament Commission meeting some time in April. But the Soviets are boycotting this 25-nation group of the grounds that its membership is stacked against them.

The next planned U.S. move, if the Soviets hold to their announced boycott, is to go to the U.N. Security Council for advice on how next to proceed.

* * *

THE SOVIETS have vowed not to discuss disarmament matters themselves there. But officials are confident the Soviets would never boycott the Council. The last time they did that, the Council authorized use of American and other U.N. troops against the Communists in Korea.

Secretary of State Dulles returned to Washington from the Far East, immediately taking charge of U.S. strategy on the disarmament and other likely summit conference topics.

The last few days of Dulles' 10-day stay in the Pacific were marked by a flurry of Soviet publicity pronouncements.

The effects of these was (1) renewed Soviet emphasis on boycotting the Disarmament Commission and (2) a four-point Soviet plan agreeing to pledge outer space for peaceful purposes exclusively provided the U.S. gave up all its overseas bases.

The Soviet space-for-peace plan followed the line of proposals made during the past few months by Eisenhower and Dulles. But the Soviets added a condition-liquidation of U.S. overseas bases—which Dulles denounced upon his return as "very unacceptable."

"They're mixing up two things that are quite unrelated," Dulles declared.

Ohio-Born Wave Officer Honored

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy today awarded the Legion of Merit to Cmdr. Katherine E. Shilling, first Wave officer to receive peacetime award of the decoration.

The decoration was for Cmdr. Shilling's "outstanding services to the government of the United States" while serving in the office of the judge advocate general of the Navy.

Cmdr. Shilling is a native of Troy, Ohio, and graduate of Wellesley (Mass.) College and George Washington University Law School. She has been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Congress Eyes Housing Bill, Pump-Priming Measures

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House set a hot legislative pace in the antirecession drive today.

Leaders called up for abbreviated debate a $1.8 billion emergency housing bill, and a pair of Democratic sponsored pump-priming resolutions to speed federal public works and military construction spending.

The two resolutions, sponsored by House Democratic Leader McCormack (Mass), declare it to be "the sense of Congress" that the administration accelerate federal military and civil works spending of funds already appropriated by Congress.

The Senate already has passed similar resolutions by almost unanimous vote. They have no legal force.

The big housing bill appeared certain to stir up a fuss over provisions to increase the interest rate on GI home loans from 4½ to 4¾ per cent.

House leaders figured they had the votes to pass the bill in the form it cleared the Senate and send it immediately to the President's desk for his signature.

Sponsors of the housing measure estimate it could mean as many as 200,000 new homes this year and possibly 600,000 new jobs.

The bill would lower down payment requirements on homes purchased under government-insured FHA loans, and extend the veterans home loan and direct loan programs two more years for World War II veterans until July 25, 1960.

In addition, it would:

1. Make available an extra $1 billion to the Federal National Mortgage Assn. to buy FHA and GI mortgages on new homes where the loans do not exceed $13,500.

2. Provide an additional half billion dollars for FNMA mortgage purchases for use at the President's discretion if the recession worsens.

3. Authorize an extra $300 million for direct veterans loans in areas where commercial loan sources are scarce, and another $50 million for military housing.

President Says $2¼ Billion Can Be Spent Now

Housing, Agricultural Aides Prodded in Fight Against Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today called for an antirecession speedup in the spending of $2¼ billion in federal, state and local funds for construction and rural electrification projects.

The President set forth the program in letters to Albert M. Cole, chief of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, and Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

The plan calls for faster spending of $1,248,000,000 in federal money and $1,007,000,000 in state, local and private money.

The money would be used in this way:

For public facility loans for such things as sewers and municipal water projects, $75 million.

For college housing loans, $300 million.

For slum clearance projects and other aspects of urban renewal, $1 billion.

For public housing, $140 million.

For rural electrification loans, $740 million.

IN ADVANCE of the White House announcement Sen. Byrd (D-Va) joined Republicans in stiffened opposition to immediate tax cuts or "make-work" spending.

Byrd, who heads the Senate Finance Committee, said in a Senate speech the government is headed toward a $15 billion deficit if Congress cuts taxes. He said any large-scale red ink spending for pump priming will "add fuel to the inflation fire" and further cut the value of the dollar.

Even in February, he said, inflation cut the buying power of a dollar by a third of a cent.

Sen. Dirksen of Illinois, assistant Senate Republican leader, said the inflation threat is delaying a decision by the President on possible tax cuts.

"The President and his advisers want to be sure that if a tax cut becomes necessary and is made, the benefits won't be washed out by inflation," Dirksen said. "It would do the average family little good to get a tax cut and then find the price of everything had advanced."

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said he is certain Congress is not going in for what he called

U.S. Rocket Genius Describes His 8 Most Exciting Minutes

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Wernher von Braun, the rocket genius, talked for nearly two hours Tuesday night and scarcely anybody even fidgeted.

He just pulled hundreds of scientists and engineers into his own orbid while telling them:

About "the eight most exciting minutes of my life, kind of desperate minutes" sweating out success of Explorer I Jan. 31.

That Vanguard, launched Monday, is an unprecedented feat in rocketry, since it started from scratch two years ago and building a new, untested, complicated rocket that fast is something "never, never done before."

That so many satellites are coming up that they'll have to be given different radio frequency voices to avoid a kind of spatial Tower of Babel. He said he thought humans would be orbiting around on satellites in two to five years.

* * *

THE SOVIETS may launch another Sputnik any time, he added But he thinks they used military rockets to get their first two up. Since then, the military may have taken possession of rockets produced, with the scientists waiting their turn again for rockets to launch Sputniks.

Addressing a conference sponsored by the American Rocket Society and American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Dr. Von Braun gave a detailed history of Explorer I.

When Explorer I was fired, he and Dr. William Pickering, director of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at California Institute of Technology, were waiting in Washington.

"If it was successful, we had to go meet the press. Nobody said what we should do if it missed. I thought I'd just go to a movie," Dr. Von Braun said.

"Antigua, 1,500 miles from Florida, had heard Explorer pass overhead soon after launching. We calculated this meant 106 minutes for an orbit time. But when 106 minutes passed, there was no confirmation. Those next eight minutes were the most exciting of my life" until the signal was heard "and we knew we were in business."

Quaker Joins Crew In Pacific Protest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Quaker teacher has been added to the crew of the Golden Rule, the 30-foot ketch that sails next weekend to protest nuclear tests in the Marshall Islands in the Pacific.

Orion Sherwood, 28, was selected to replace David Gale, Carver, Minn., who became ill on the Golden Rule's first attempt, turned back by foul weather.

Sherwood is a teacher at Oakwood Quaker School, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He is a graduate of the University of Utah.

Bill Asks Force On SUB in Ohio

Measure in Congress Sponsored by Dems

WASHINGTON (AP)—An attempt has been launched in Congress to force Ohio to permit operation of union-negotiated Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) plans.

The heavily industrialized state now bars laid-off workers from receiving SUB payments and state unemployment compensation at the same time.

A little-noticed provision of a Democratic-sponsored measure to increase state benefit rates would establish a new federal standard requiring states to permit operation of SUB plans.

The proposed legislation, introduced by Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Rep. McCarthy (D-Minn), is backed to the hilt by the AFL-CIO leadership.

SUB, an outgrowth of United Auto Workers (UAW) President Walter Reuther's proposed "guaranteed annual wage," provides that the company make payments for each worker into a union fund to supplement state unemployment compensation.

* * *

SUCH PLANS have been negotiated by the International Union of Electrical Workers and the United Steelworkers as well as the UAW. All three are strong in Ohio.

Ohio companies have paid into the SUB funds, but their unemployed workers have received no benefits from such payments.

A recent court decision in Ohio said present state law does not prevent operation of the plan there, but the state has appealed.

Chances of the Kennedy-McCarthy bill are uncertain even though a bevy of duplicates has been offered in the House and 16 Democratic senators co-sponsored the Kennedy bill.

Lockbourne B47 Blamed in Shelling Case

SHEBOYGAN FALLS, Wis. (AP)—The Air Force has shouldered the blame for 20 mm. cannon projectiles that hammered into three homes and fell on village streets Monday. There were no injuries.

After flying here for an inspection from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., Brig. Gen. Don W. Saunders said: "All the evidence so far indicates that the shells were fired by a B47 jet bomber out of Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio. Apparently, for some unknown reason, some rounds left the guns after the plane flew in from the Lake Michigan firing range."

Capt. E. J. Walsh, Air Force public relations officer, said the three-man crew "had no knowledge that the tail cannon was fired after leaving the range area."

Col. M. E. Beveridge, operations director at Lockbourne, was ordered to conduct an investigation to determine if an electrical malfunction caused the cluster of four cannons to fire.

Ohio Solon Expects Veto On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio farmers were told by a Democratic congressman today that a bill to freeze price supports on basic farm products, if passed, probably would be vetoed by President Eisenhower.

Rep. Polk (D-Ohio), a member of the House Agriculture Committee, expressed this view in a talk to a group of about 40 Ohio Farm Bureau members.

"The passage of this bill is needed because of the depression," Polk said, estimating that it would mean additional annual federal spending of $650 million.

The bill, approved by the House Agriculture Committee, comes before the House Rules Committee today.

Rep. McCulloch (R-Ohio) told the farmers he regrets that the price freeze bill is on a take or reject basis.

By that, he meant that House members will be asked to accept or reject price support freezes on all commodities involved — corn, wheat, peanuts, rice, cotton and dairy products.

McCulloch comes from an Ohio district where dairy farmers have been pressing for a freeze on the price support for milk sold for manufacturing.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson says he will cut this support April 1 to reduce spring surplus milk.

The Ohioans plan to see Benson today.

Spring Comes Again

The Fashion Forecast....

Fashion for every season seems to evolve through a set pattern.

There is the initial shock as the European houses of couturiere introduce their new lines, each with the flat announcement that this is the thing which all will wear. This is followed by a great deal of controversy among the domestic designers.

While all of this is taking place, the millions of women who are to purchase and wear this apparel, laugh . . . wonder a bit and reject . . . and reject . . . and reject.

From these three segments, our merchants make their selections as to just what it is that women of good fashion sense will accept as their own. It sems to be a very fine arrangement as customarily each season ,through this method, apparel — new, distinctive and flattering — seems to emerge.

* * *

THIS SPRING is no different than any other in that respect. Despite the controversy over the sack or chemise look and the satirical treatment it has received almost universally, it has evolved from a balloon like caricature to a very modified new line. It will be the really new look for Spring and surprisingly, they are most flattering.

A word of caution though. These garments have little or no hanger appeal and may only be judged on the figure.

Those models which are to be popular here in Circleville, while loose, are shaped to follow the natural line of the body. The majority of them come with a belt, which may be worn by the conserative woman.

However, this belt is an auxiliary and not needed as adornment for the gown. No exaggeration or unnecessary fullness about the waistline or hips was noted in the dresses shown locally. However, the narrowed hemline was apparent in the majority.

Although it would be concluded from fashion notes coming out of New York or Paris that the loose fitting sack in all of its variations

H-Bomb 'Dad' Sees Error in A-Bomb Use

CLEVELAND (AP) — The United States made a mistake in using the atomic bomb at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Dr. Edward Teller, noted nuclear scientist, said here Tuesday.

Teller, who has been called the father of the H-bomb, made the remark in answer to a question following a speech at a meeting of the trustees of the Ohio Highway and Turnpike Assn.

He said the Japanese should have been warned and that the warning should have been followed by the explosion of a demonstration bomb over Tokyo, then an ultimatum calling for surrender.

Describing the perils of nuclear attack in his speech, Teller said that conflagration in the cities could not be avoided. He urged the building of fireproof shelters capable of being sealed from outside contamination.

He said that if this country could take the shock of a nuclear attack it could survive and it must prepare for survival and recovery.

There will be no attack as long as Russia knows we will survive and recover, he added.

New Harness Track Near Here Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Columbus Trotting Assn. hopes to build a one and one-half million dollar harness racing track on a 140 acre site just nine miles south of the heart of Columbus, it was disclosed today.

Charles D. Hill, president of the association, said construction on the five-eighths mile oval will begin as soon as voters in the area approve the project.

Under Ohio law, horse racing tracks need the approval of more than 50 per cent of the voters in the township in which they are to be situated. This track would be at the northeast corner of the intersection of U.S. 23 and Ohio 665 near Shadeville in Hamilton Twp. (Franklin County).

The board of elections says there are approximately 1,450 voters in the township.

Hill said the proposed track will include a dining room and club house, a grandstand seating 3,000, parking facilities for 5,000 cars, lighting for night racing and a stable area for 700 horses.

Hill said he hopes to have the track completed in time for the 1959 racing season.

Instant-Summit Talk Brushed Aside by U.S.

America Still Hoping Low-Level Arms Parley To Be Held by April

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States brushed aside Soviet "instant-summit" propaganda today and stuck to its quest for new low-level disarmament talks by April.

Officials said the White House will make clear soon that the new U. S. disarmament negotiator, James J. Wadsworth, is authorized to discuss disarmament at any time with a comparable Soviet representative.

They said Wadsworth's instructions are simply to (1) keep the Allies informed of whatever he does, and (2) get the disarmament deadlock off dead center.

These officials expected a United Nations Disarmament Commission meeting some time in April. But the Soviets are boycotting this 25-nation group of the grounds that its membership is stacked against them.

The next planned U.S. move, if the Soviets hold to their announced boycott, is to go to the U.N. Security Council for advice on how next to proceed.

* * *

THE SOVIETS have vowed not to discuss disarmament matters themselves there. But officials are confident the Soviets would never boycott the Council. The last time they did that, the Council authorized use of American and other U.N. troops against the Communists in Korea.

Secretary of State Dulles returned to Washington from the Far East, immediately taking charge of U.S. strategy on the disarmament and other likely summit conference topics.

The last few days of Dulles' 10-day stay in the Pacific were marked by a flurry of Soviet publicity pronouncements.

The effects of these was (1) renewed Soviet emphasis on boycotting the Disarmament Commission and (2) a four-point Soviet plan agreeing to pledge outer space for peaceful purposes exclusively provided the U.S. gave up all its overseas bases.

The Soviet space-for-peace plan followed the line of proposals made during the past few months by Eisenhower and Dulles. But the Soviets added a condition-liquidation of U.S. overseas bases—which Dulles denounced upon his return as "very unacceptable."

"They're mixing up two things that are quite unrelated," Dulles declared.

Ohio-Born Wave Officer Honored

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy today awarded the Legion of Merit to Cmdr. Katherine E. Shilling, first Wave officer to receive peacetime award of the decoration.

The decoration was for Cmdr. Shilling's "outstanding services to the government of the United States" while serving in the office of the judge advocate general of the Navy.

Cmdr. Shilling is a native of Troy, Ohio, and graduate of Wellesley (Mass.) College and George Washington University Law School. She has been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Congress Eyes Housing Bill, Pump-Priming Measures

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House set a hot legislative pace in the antirecession drive today.

Leaders called up for abbreviated debate a $1.8 billion emergency housing bill, and a pair of Democratic sponsored pump-priming resolutions to speed federal public works and military construction spending.

The two resolutions, sponsored by House Democratic Leader McCormack (Mass), declare it to be "the sense of Congress" that the administration accelerate federal military and civil works spending of funds already appropriated by Congress.

The Senate already has passed similar resolutions by almost unanimous vote. They have no legal force.

The big housing bill appeared certain to stir up a fuss over provisions to increase the interest rate on GI home loans from 4½ to 4¾ per cent.

House leaders figured they had the votes to pass the bill in the form it cleared the Senate and send it immediately to the President's desk for his signature.

Sponsors of the housing measure estimate it could mean as many as 200,000 new homes this year and possibly 600,000 new jobs.

The bill would lower down payment requirements on homes purchased under government-insured FHA loans, and extend the veterans home loan and direct loan programs two more years for World War II veterans until July 25, 1960.

In addition, it would:

1. Make available an extra $1 billion to the Federal National Mortgage Assn. to buy FHA and GI mortgages on new homes where the loans do not exceed $13,500.

2. Provide an additional half billion dollars for FNMA mortgage purchases for use at the President's discretion if the recession worsens.

3. Authorize an extra $300 million for direct veterans loans in areas where commercial loan sources are scarce, and another $50 million for military housing.

U.S. Rocket Genius Describes His 8 Most Exciting Minutes

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Wernher von Braun, the rocket genius, talked for nearly two hours Tuesday night and scarcely anybody even fidgeted.

He just pulled hundreds of scientists and engineers into his own orbid while telling them:

About "the eight most exciting minutes of my life, kind of desperate minutes" sweating out success of Explorer I Jan. 31.

That Vanguard, launched Monday, is an unprecedented feat in rocketry, since it started from scratch two years ago and building a new, untested, complicated rocket that fast is something "never, never done before."

That so many satellites are coming up that they'll have to be given different radio frequency voices to avoid a kind of spatial Tower of Babel. He said he thought humans would be orbiting around on satellites in two to five years.

* * *

THE SOVIETS may launch another Sputnik any time, he added But he thinks they used military rockets to get their first two up. Since then, the military may have taken possession of rockets produced, with the scientists waiting their turn again for rockets to launch Sputniks.

Addressing a conference sponsored by the American Rocket Society and American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Dr. Von Braun gave a detailed history of Explorer I.

When Explorer I was fired, he and Dr. William Pickering, director of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at California Institute of Technology, were waiting in Washington.

"If it was successful, we had to go meet the press. Nobody said what we should do if it missed. I thought I'd just go to a movie," Dr. Von Braun said.

"Antigua, 1,500 miles from Florida, had heard Explorer pass overhead soon after launching. We calculated this meant 106 minutes for an orbit time. But when 106 minutes passed, there was no confirmation. Those next eight minutes were the most exciting of my life" until the signal was heard "and we knew we were in business."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Quaker teacher has been added to the crew of the Golden Rule, the 30-foot ketch that sails next weekend to protest nuclear tests in the Marshall Islands in the Pacific.

Orion Sherwood, 28, was selected to replace David Gale, Carver, Minn., who became ill on the Golden Rule's first attempt, turned back by foul weather.

Sherwood is a teacher at Oakwood Quaker School, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He is a graduate of the University of Utah.

Bill Asks Force On SUB in Ohio

Measure in Congress Sponsored by Dems

WASHINGTON (AP)—An attempt has been launched in Congress to force Ohio to permit operation of union-negotiated Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) plans.

The heavily industrialized state now bars laid-off workers from receiving SUB payments and state unemployment compensation at the same time.

A little-noticed provision of a Democratic-sponsored measure to increase state benefit rates would establish a new federal standard requiring states to permit operation of SUB plans.

The proposed legislation, introduced by Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Rep. McCarthy (D-Minn), is backed to the hilt by the AFL-CIO leadership.

SUB, an outgrowth of United Auto Workers (UAW) President Walter Reuther's proposed "guaranteed annual wage," provides that the company make payments for each worker into a union fund to supplement state unemployment compensation.

* * *

SUCH PLANS have been negotiated by the International Union of Electrical Workers and the United Steelworkers as well as the UAW. All three are strong in Ohio.

Ohio companies have paid into the SUB funds, but their unemployed workers have received no benefits from such payments.

A recent court decision in Ohio said present state law does not prevent operation of the plan there, but the state has appealed.

Chances of the Kennedy-McCarthy bill are uncertain even though a bevy of duplicates has been offered in the House and 16 Democratic senators co-sponsored the Kennedy bill.

Lockbourne B47 Blamed in Shelling Case

SHEBOYGAN FALLS, Wis. (AP)—The Air Force has shouldered the blame for 20 mm. cannon projectiles that hammered into three homes and fell on village streets Monday. There were no injuries.

After flying here for an inspection from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., Brig. Gen. Don W. Saunders said: "All the evidence so far indicates that the shells were fired by a B47 jet bomber out of Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio. Apparently, for some unknown reason, some rounds left the guns after the plane flew in from the Lake Michigan firing range."

Capt. E. J. Walsh, Air Force public relations officer, said the three-man crew "had no knowledge that the tail cannon was fired after leaving the range area."

Col. M. E. Beveridge, operations director at Lockbourne, was ordered to conduct an investigation to determine if an electrical malfunction caused the cluster of four cannons to fire.

President Says $2¼ Billion Can Be Spent Now

Housing, Agricultural Aides Prodded in Fight Against Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today called for an antirecession speedup in the spending of $2¼ billion in federal, state and local funds for construction and rural electrification projects.

The President set forth the program in letters to Albert M. Cole, chief of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, and Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

The plan calls for faster spending of $1,248,000,000 in federal money and $1,007,000,000 in state, local and private money.

The money would be used in this way:

For public facility loans for such things as sewers and municipal water projects, $75 million.

For college housing loans, $300 million.

For slum clearance projects and other aspects of urban renewal, $1 billion.

For public housing, $140 million.

For rural electrification loans, $740 million.

IN ADVANCE of the White House announcement Sen. Byrd (D-Va) joined Republicans in stiffened opposition to immediate tax cuts or "make-work" spending.

Byrd, who heads the Senate Finance Committee, said in a Senate speech the government is headed toward a $15 billion deficit if Congress cuts taxes. He said any large-scale red ink spending for pump priming will "add fuel to the inflation fire" and further cut the value of the dollar.

Even in February, he said, inflation cut the buying power of a dollar by a third of a cent.

Sen. Dirksen of Illinois, assistant Senate Republican leader, said the inflation threat is delaying a decision by the President on possible tax cuts.

"The President and his advisers want to be sure that if a tax cut becomes necessary and is made, the benefits won't be washed out by inflation," Dirksen said. "It would do the average family little good to get a tax cut and then find the price of everything had advanced."

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said he is certain Congress is not going in for what he called

Ohio Solon Expects Veto On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio farmers were told by a Democratic congressman today that a bill to freeze price supports on basic farm products, if passed, probably would be vetoed by President Eisenhower.

Rep. Polk (D-Ohio), a member of the House Agriculture Committee, expressed this view in a talk to a group of about 40 Ohio Farm Bureau members.

"The passage of this bill is needed because of the depression," Polk said, estimating that it would mean additional annual federal spending of $650 million.

The bill, approved by the House Agriculture Committee, comes before the House Rules Committee today.

Rep. McCulloch (R-Ohio) told the farmers he regrets that the price freeze bill is on a take or reject basis.

By that, he meant that House members will be asked to accept or reject price support freezes on all commodities involved — corn, wheat, peanuts, rice, cotton and dairy products.

McCulloch comes from an Ohio district where dairy farmers have been pressing for a freeze on the price support for milk sold for manufacturing.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson says he will cut this support April 1 to reduce spring surplus milk.

The Ohioans plan to see Benson today.

Spring Comes Again

The Fashion Forecast....

Fashion for every season seems to evolve through a set pattern.

There is the initial shock as the European houses of couturiere introduce their new lines, each with the flat announcement that this is the thing which all will wear. This is followed by a great deal of controversy among the domestic designers.

While all of this is taking place, the millions of women who are to purchase and wear this apparel, laugh . . . wonder a bit and reject . . . and reject . . . and reject.

From these three segments, our merchants make their selections as to just what it is that women of good fashion sense will accept as their own. It sems to be a very fine arrangement as customarily each season ,through this method, apparel — new, distinctive and flattering — seems to emerge.

* * *

THIS SPRING is no different than any other in that respect. Despite the controversy over the sack or chemise look and the satirical treatment it has received almost universally, it has evolved from a balloon like caricature to a very modified new line. It will be the really new look for Spring and surprisingly, they are most flattering.

A word of caution though. These garments have little or no hanger appeal and may only be judged on the figure.

Those models which are to be popular here in Circleville, while loose, are shaped to follow the natural line of the body. The majority of them come with a belt, which may be worn by the conserative woman.

However, this belt is an auxiliary and not needed as adornment for the gown. No exaggeration or unnecessary fullness about the waistline or hips was noted in the dresses shown locally. However, the narrowed hemline was apparent in the majority.

Although it would be concluded from fashion notes coming out of New York or Paris that the loose fitting sack in all of its variations

Ramey, appearing before Judge Sterling M. Lamb, was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months on the intoxicated driving count. He was fined $35 and costs on the wrong way driving accusation.

PAUL E. FREDERICK JR.

Top DAV Head To Give Talk Here Friday

Paul E. Frederick Jr., National Commander of the Disabled American Veterans, will address an open meeting for the benefit of all veterans at Memorial Hall at 8:15 p. m. Friday, it was announced today by Robert L. Hempker, commander of the local chapter.

The National Commander served with Co. A, 253rd Inf. Reg., 63rd Div. during War II. It was while ministering to a wounded comrade on the field of battle that he was severely wounded. Although he saved the life of his comrade, his own wounds were such that he was required to spend a year in hospitals and has never recovered the use of his leg.

He is a graduate of Xavier University, and attended Chase Law School.

Among the National Commander's primary objectives are a sound rehabilitation program; increased compensation for veterans disabled as a direct result of war service to meet the increased costs of living; and a strong membership in the DAV to protect the war-time disabled, the widows and orphans — against the inroads by those who would destroy the benefits being paid to them.

* * *

JAMES Nocera, state commander of the DAV and other state officials of the organization will accompany the national commander on this visit to Circleville.

All veterans are invited to hear the national commander and a special invitation is extended to women.

Stock Mart Rallies after 3-Day Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied in the early afternoon today after a three-day losing streak.

Leaders were up fractions to about two points. Some favorites fared better and tobacco shares were in good demand. There were a few small losers.

The market advanced at the opening, backed away slightly, then pushed to its highs for the day in early afternoon.

The Washington news was mostly bullish. The White House called for a speedup of construction of more than two billion dollars in public works, housing and rural electrification projects. This came after the cut in bank reserve requirements late Tuesday.

Liggett & Myers and Reynolds Tobacco B were up about a point.

Lukens, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and U. S. Steel advanced a point or so.

Most other major divisions were ahead fractions.

Up about a point were Chrysler, International Nickel and Corn Products. Directors of Corn Products boosted the quarterly dividend from 40 to 45 cents.

Government bonds were a little higher.

News In Brief

Indonesians Claim Control In Rebellion

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian army claimed today that it has the situation "completely under control" in the central Sumatra oil center of Pakanbaru and the north Sumatra port of Medan.

Associated Press correspondent Fred Waters reported from Pakanbaru that only an "occasional exchange of small arms fire from across the river south of the city disturbed the quiet there.

"The firing, presumably by guerrilla units of the Indonesian rebel forces, is returned by Jakarta government troops," Waters said. He added that officials of the American Caltex Oil Co. arrived from Singapore today to discuss resumption of operations in the oil fields near Pakanbaru.

There were no new reports from the rebels, who claimed Tuesday night to have recaptured Pakanbaru and reopened the fight for Medan after it changed hands twice.

SEOUL (AP) — The American major who flew a young Korean thief 25 miles nailed in a box has decided to accept punishment without trial. The most he can get is a rebuke and loss of a month's pay.

The Army gave Maj. Thomas James, 40, Plymouth, Pa., the choice of accepting the token punishment or seeking an acquittal in a general court-martial. An 8th Army spokesman said it is not known what his punishment will be.

Army investigators said the boy, 14-year-old Kim Choon Il, was mistreated after being caught with stolen goods at the 8th Army aircraft maintenance center at Ascom City. He is now in an orphanage.

PARIS (AP) — Rightist opposition to concessions to Tunisia today threatened agreement with that angry North African nation and menaced the life of Premier Felix Gaillard's four-month-old government.

Gaillard faced another political crisis as his Cabinet met. There were signs his shaky coalition would split wide open if he gave any ground in France's dispute with her former North African protectorate.

The U. S. British good offices team of Robert Murphy and Harold Beeley recently got Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba to agree to a six-point plant that would set up a schedule for withdrawal for French troops from Tunisia with the exception of Bizerte naval base.

STRASBOURG, France (AP) — Robert Schuman, a guiding force in the European unity movement, today was elected president of the new European Economic Assembly by acclamation.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China today broke off commercial relations with Japan as a protest against the recent private trade agreement between a Japanese group and Communist China.

Existing contracts were canceled and negotiations for future contracts were suspended.

President Chiang Kai-shek's government ordered the rupture in an effort to force the Japanese government to refuse approval of the agreement.

Japan's exports to Formosa totaled 77 million dollars in 1957 whilte the Nationalist island exported 64 million worth to Japan.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Public transport was halted in most of West Germany and in West Berlin today as some 250,000 municipal workers struck for 24 hours for higher pay. Garbage piled up.

The strike was a manifestation of general dissatisfaction with wages which has been sweeping West German labor.

MOSCOW (AP)—More than half a million persons voted against at least one Communist party candidate in Sunday's parliamentary elections, but it didn't affect any seats.

The Central Elections Commission reported in final returns that with 133,796,091 persons voting, the votes against the party candidates totaled about a third of 1 per cent of all votes.

ALGIERS (AP)—The French today claimed more than 300 nationalist rebels were killed in the past 24 hours in an intensification of the campaign to stamp out the 40-month-old Algerian rebellion. French losses were not given.

The Fashion Forecast . . .

is the only look for spring, nothing could be farther from the truth. Like any rather extreme style line, this is not going to be becoming to every woman.

Sheaths are going to be every bit as good this spring as they were in the fall. However, a great many of these are offered with the hip length matching jacket, which is quite full at the armpits and tapers to a close fitting hem.

* * *

ON EITHER the chemise or the more conventional sheath, there is much collar interest. The strong nautical trend for this season causes the sailor collar to be shown in many variations. An exaggerated cowl neckline is particularly new and can be worn in many different ways.

Whether the garment be fitted or loose, most decorative touches are placed approximately six inches below the natural waistline. This sometimes takes the form of a belt or sash, meeting in a bow or buckle. All interest at the natural waistline is minimized.

While a much shorter skirt length is being advocated abroad, this will not be generally accepted here. Rather, as in the past fall, the length of the skirt will be scaled to individual flattery.

* * *

THE COAT PICTURE follows much the same line as the dress. Coats are slimmer than they have been for several seasons and taper from natural shoulder lines to narrowed hems. The toppers are also tapered to approximately 6 inches below the natural waistline. Many feature attached wide belts at the hemline or some other such interest.

There is a great deal of back emphasis in both type of outer garment. Many are gathered from a deep yoke at the back, falling in soft folds to the belted dropped waistband.

Navy puts in an appearance everywhere this spring, with this one exception — coats and toppers are in neutral greys and beiges. The grey never goes darker than smoke and the beige at its deepest is but sand.

Sparates follow again the basic fashion line. Skirts are slim, some even tapered. The blouses are blousons or overblouses. The roll up sleeve is holding strong. The middle influence is most strongly felt here.

* * *

FOR ACTIVE SPORTSWEAR the trend is away from the Ivy League styling of the past few seasons, although it will still be good fashion. The nautical influence is extremely strong . . . although equally as good is the Spanish influence . . . toreador pants trimmed lavishly in braid. Shorts will be popular in all lengths, the Jamacian naturally preferred for brisk Spring days.

For all occasions, this will be a big year for cotton knit dresses, ensembles and separates. These range from the comfortable golfer to quite dressy ensembles, consisting of sheath dress and jacket.

The majority of these are hand washable and drip dry, although some of the more elaborate in styling will require dry cleaning. As with all knits, these will make excellent travel dresses and will be easily packed for vacation wardrobes.

* * *

THE GENERAL IMPRESSION gained from the viewing of merchandise soon to be shown in Circleville, was that styling would not be quite as extreme as anticipated.

The chemise look is in evidence everywhere but to a very modified degree. Wearability and flattery have not been sacrificed in the interest of "a new look."

While synthetic fabrics are much in evidence, more pure silk is going to be shown this spring than it has been in at least 20 years. This naturally will make for a colorful season as no synthetic will take a dye as will a natural fiber.

In conjunction with this return to silk, there will be many outstanding print dresses. The prints are rather large and splashy and the combination of colors most unusual. A combination of various shades of blue and green . . . prints composed of delicate pink and flashing flame.

* * *

WHITE POLKA DOTS on Navy ground will have a tremendous season. These even carry into the accessory field to spark a basic navy or white ensemble.

The fashion forecast for Spring would be incomplete without some reference to the citrus shades . . . lime, lemon, ice, orange ice, a similar shade, apricot sherbet.

While these are used frequently in solid color garments; they definitely predominate in spring jewelry and accessories.

These colors are perfect foil for the beige tones and pearl greys . . . and just that added accent needed for white later on.

Despite the emphasis on modification, this Spring season of '58 still emerges as an unusually outstanding season.

The lines are new; the use of color is revolutionary in its combinations and it obviously is leading the way for several seasons to come.

East End Rezoning Ordinance Defeated; Another Proposed

City Council last night turned down one east end rezoning ordinance, but set a public hearing on another. At the same time they referred to the Planning and Zoning Commission a request to rezone still another east end property from Class B Residential to Class C Commercial.

The solons on December 28 tabled an ordinance which would rezone an area bounded by E. Main St., Mingo St., Pleasant Alley and Alley No. 4. Later another ordinance was introduced which greatly expanded the proposed area to be rezoned.

Last night the lawmakers defeated the second ordinance which would rezone the larger territory and reeintroduced the original ordinance.

Two weeks ago residents of the E. Main St., Mingo St. area appealed to Council not to rezone the larger area from residential to commercial, but at the same time they indicated they would approve rezoning the smaller area which includes the Alfred Lee Lumber Co., at 493 E. Main St. Public hearing on the smaller area is set for May 6.

Council sent to the Planning and Zoning body a new rezoning proposition, which calls for the change from Class B. residential to Class C Commercial of two tracts, each .72 acres, located at the intersection of Mound and Main Sts.

Fred Mavis, owner of the property, said he has no immediate plans for the area, but indicated it is unsuitable for residential construction.

'Electronic Cops' Guard Schools Now

HACKENSACK, N. J. (AP)—"Electronic policemen" have been credited with eliminating school vandalism here.

Police Chief Westervelt Demarest and Board of Education members announced that the use of sensitive microphones in closed schools has cut the cost of vandalism from $50,000 three years ago to nothing.

Council Approves Issuance Of Bonds, Seeks Tax Draw

The legislators OKd an ordinance providing for the issuance of $25,000 in bonds to pay off street improvement notes; approved issuance of $9,000 in bonds to purchase a property at 473 N. Court St., adopted a resolution asking the county auditor for a $10,000 advance draw on taxes and approved a contract with Burgess & Niple, Columbus engineering firm, for services.

The $25,000 in bonds will be used to pay off notes issued last year to finance paving of Sunset Drive, Lewis Road, Georgia Road, Lone Pine Road, Nicholas Drive and S. Pickaway St.

It was anticipated when the notes were issued that they would be paid off during the year, but lack of finances made that impossible, so, bonds had to be issued at this time.

Council approved issuance of $9,000 in bonds to finance purchase of 473 N. Court St., to be used as a new entrance to Ted Lewis Park.

* * *

THE BURGESS & NIPLE contract is a continuation of the contract which the city had with the engineering firm last year.

The solons authorized Service Director Carl Radcliff to bid as high as $500 for a road grader to be auctioned soon at Marion. They also authorized Radcliff to prepare a grade along Atwater Ave. from Northridge Road to Seyfert Ave., so that residents may install curbs and gutters and sidewalks at their own expense.

David Crawford and Joseph Bell were named as Council members of the Police Pension Board, while John Jenkins and Boyd Horn will be members of the Fire Pension Board.

Violator Maintains No-Pay Attitude

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — When aircraft worker Herbert Meyer was cited for making an illegal turn in traffic four years ago, he wrote the court:

"I will not appear and will not pay a fine. If you feel that I am guilty and must suffer, send a police car to my home and I will spend the weekend in jail."

The warrant finally caught up with Meyer, 35, when he tried to renew his driver's license. He appeared before Municipal Judge Julian Beck, who gave him the alternative of a $50 fine or five days in jail.

frantic spending or tax cutting of the kind that would pile up any $15 billion deficit.

* * *

HE SAID the administration will wait 30 to 60 days for signs of an "unmistakable trend" in the direction of the economy before deciding on tax cuts.

Eisenhower today set aside most of his formal schedule for economic discussions.

He scheduled an afternoon conference with eight governors, members of the Executive Committee of the Governors' Conference. He wanted to discuss with them his proposal for extension of unemployment compensation payments.

Eisenhower told the annual Republican Women's Conference Tuesday he is flatly opposed to what he called the "make-work approach with its vast, slow-moving projects" because he feels it might "turn a recession into a long-term economic headache."

Subsequently the Federal Reserve Board reduced the reserve requirements for member banks to make a potential $3 billion available for loans.

The cut, the second within a month, reduced the reserve requirements for banks' demand deposits to the lowest levels since the depression years of the 1930s.

But Wall Street reaction indicated surprise only at the smallness of the cut (half of 1 per cent) and included predictions still another reduction may be ordered soon.

PAUL E. FREDERICK JR.

Top DAV Head To Give Talk Here Friday

Paul E. Frederick Jr., National Commander of the Disabled American Veterans, will address an open meeting for the benefit of all veterans at Memorial Hall at 8:15 p. m. Friday, it was announced today by Robert L. Hempker, commander of the local chapter.

The National Commander served with Co. A, 253rd Inf. Reg., 63rd Div. during War II. It was while ministering to a wounded comrade on the field of battle that he was severely wounded. Although he saved the life of his comrade, his own wounds were such that he was required to spend a year in hospitals and has never recovered the use of his leg.

He is a graduate of Xavier University, and attended Chase Law School.

Among the National Commander's primary objectives are a sound rehabilitation program; increased compensation for veterans disabled as a direct result of war service to meet the increased costs of living; and a strong membership in the DAV to protect the war-time disabled, the widows and orphans — against the inroads by those who would destroy the benefits being paid to them.

* * *

JAMES Nocera, state commander of the DAV and other state officials of the organization will accompany the national commander on this visit to Circleville.

All veterans are invited to hear the national commander and a special invitation is extended to women.

News In Brief

Indonesians Claim Control In Rebellion

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian army claimed today that it has the situation "completely under control" in the central Sumatra oil center of Pakanbaru and the north Sumatra port of Medan.

Associated Press correspondent Fred Waters reported from Pakanbaru that only an "occasional exchange of small arms fire from across the river south of the city disturbed the quiet there.

"The firing, presumably by guerrilla units of the Indonesian rebel forces, is returned by Jakarta government troops," Waters said. He added that officials of the American Caltex Oil Co. arrived from Singapore today to discuss resumption of operations in the oil fields near Pakanbaru.

There were no new reports from the rebels, who claimed Tuesday night to have recaptured Pakanbaru and reopened the fight for Medan after it changed hands twice.

SEOUL (AP) — The American major who flew a young Korean thief 25 miles nailed in a box has decided to accept punishment without trial. The most he can get is a rebuke and loss of a month's pay.

The Army gave Maj. Thomas James, 40, Plymouth, Pa., the choice of accepting the token punishment or seeking an acquittal in a general court-martial. An 8th Army spokesman said it is not known what his punishment will be.

Army investigators said the boy, 14-year-old Kim Choon Il, was mistreated after being caught with stolen goods at the 8th Army aircraft maintenance center at Ascom City. He is now in an orphanage.

PARIS (AP) — Rightist opposition to concessions to Tunisia today threatened agreement with that angry North African nation and menaced the life of Premier Felix Gaillard's four-month-old government.

Gaillard faced another political crisis as his Cabinet met. There were signs his shaky coalition would split wide open if he gave any ground in France's dispute with her former North African protectorate.

The U. S. British good offices team of Robert Murphy and Harold Beeley recently got Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba to agree to a six-point plant that would set up a schedule for withdrawal for French troops from Tunisia with the exception of Bizerte naval base.

STRASBOURG, France (AP) — Robert Schuman, a guiding force in the European unity movement, today was elected president of the new European Economic Assembly by acclamation.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China today broke off commercial relations with Japan as a protest against the recent private trade agreement between a Japanese group and Communist China.

Existing contracts were canceled and negotiations for future contracts were suspended.

President Chiang Kai-shek's government ordered the rupture in an effort to force the Japanese government to refuse approval of the agreement.

Japan's exports to Formosa totaled 77 million dollars in 1957 whilte the Nationalist island exported 64 million worth to Japan.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Public transport was halted in most of West Germany and in West Berlin today as some 250,000 municipal workers struck for 24 hours for higher pay. Garbage piled up.

The strike was a manifestation of general dissatisfaction with wages which has been sweeping West German labor.

MOSCOW (AP)—More than half a million persons voted against at least one Communist party candidate in Sunday's parliamentary elections, but it didn't affect any seats.

The Central Elections Commission reported in final returns that with 133,796,091 persons voting, the votes against the party candidates totaled about a third of 1 per cent of all votes.

ALGIERS (AP)—The French today claimed more than 300 nationalist rebels were killed in the past 24 hours in an intensification of the campaign to stamp out the 40-month-old Algerian rebellion. French losses were not given.

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said today Soviet air services from Moscow to London and New Delhi starting this summer will fly the trips in four and seven hours respectively with the TU104 jetliner.

"Up to now to get from New Delhi to Moscow one had to travel via Europe, a total of 34 hours flying time," the broadcast said.

The Fashion Forecast . . .

is the only look for spring, nothing could be farther from the truth. Like any rather extreme style line, this is not going to be becoming to every woman.

Sheaths are going to be every bit as good this spring as they were in the fall. However, a great many of these are offered with the hip length matching jacket, which is quite full at the armpits and tapers to a close fitting hem.

* * *

ON EITHER the chemise or the more conventional sheath, there is much collar interest. The strong nautical trend for this season causes the sailor collar to be shown in many variations. An exaggerated cowl neckline is particularly new and can be worn in many different ways.

Whether the garment be fitted or loose, most decorative touches are placed approximately six inches below the natural waistline. This sometimes takes the form of a belt or sash, meeting in a bow or buckle. All interest at the natural waistline is minimized.

While a much shorter skirt length is being advocated abroad, this will not be generally accepted here. Rather, as in the past fall, the length of the skirt will be scaled to individual flattery.

* * *

THE COAT PICTURE follows much the same line as the dress. Coats are slimmer than they have been for several seasons and taper from natural shoulder lines to narrowed hems. The toppers are also tapered to approximately 6 inches below the natural waistline. Many feature attached wide belts at the hemline or some other such interest.

There is a great deal of back emphasis in both type of outer garment. Many are gathered from a deep yoke at the back, falling in soft folds to the belted dropped waistband.

Navy puts in an appearance everywhere this spring, with this one exception — coats and toppers are in neutral greys and beiges. The grey never goes darker than smoke and the beige at its deepest is but sand.

Sparates follow again the basic fashion line. Skirts are slim, some even tapered. The blouses are blousons or overblouses. The roll up sleeve is holding strong. The middle influence is most strongly felt here.

* * *

FOR ACTIVE SPORTSWEAR the trend is away from the Ivy League styling of the past few seasons, although it will still be good fashion. The nautical influence is extremely strong . . . although equally as good is the Spanish influence . . . toreador pants trimmed lavishly in braid. Shorts will be popular in all lengths, the Jamacian naturally preferred for brisk Spring days.

For all occasions, this will be a big year for cotton knit dresses, ensembles and separates. These range from the comfortable golfer to quite dressy ensembles, consisting of sheath dress and jacket.

The majority of these are hand washable and drip dry, although some of the more elaborate in styling will require dry cleaning. As with all knits, these will make excellent travel dresses and will be easily packed for vacation wardrobes.

* * *

THE GENERAL IMPRESSION gained from the viewing of merchandise soon to be shown in Circleville, was that styling would not be quite as extreme as anticipated.

The chemise look is in evidence everywhere but to a very modified degree. Wearability and flattery have not been sacrificed in the interest of "a new look."

While synthetic fabrics are much in evidence, more pure silk is going to be shown this spring than it has been in at least 20 years. This naturally will make for a colorful season as no synthetic will take a dye as will a natural fiber.

In conjunction with this return to silk, there will be many outstanding print dresses. The prints are rather large and splashy and the combination of colors most unusual. A combination of various shades of blue and green . . . prints composed of delicate pink and flashing flame.

* * *

WHITE POLKA DOTS on Navy ground will have a tremendous season. These even carry into the accessory field to spark a basic navy or white ensemble.

The fashion forecast for Spring would be incomplete without some reference to the citrus shades . . . lime, lemon, ice, orange ice, a similar shade, apricot sherbet.

Despite the emphasis on modification, this Spring season of '58 still emerges as an unusually outstanding season.

The lines are new; the use of color is revolutionary in its combinations and it obviously is leading the way for several seasons to come.

James Cook, Ex-CHS Athlete, New Mansfield Madison Coach

James Cook, 25, Circleville High School graduate, today was named head football and golf coach at Mansfield Madison High School, Mansfield, by athletic director, Blaine Bowler.

Cook, presently head football coach at Maumee High School, Maumee, where his teams compiled a 13-5 record over a two-year span, was selected from 35 applicants seeking the position. Cook is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cook, South Bloomfield. According to his father, Cook didn't apply for the job, but was recommended.

Cook graduated from Circleville High School in 1952. Jim was a transfer student from Ashville High School where he played varsity basketball in his freshman year. He was an all-round athlete while at Circleville earning letters in three sports, football, basketball and baseball.

Cook was a 1956 graduate of Denison University majoring in physical education. He won five letters at Denison, three in football and two in basketball.

Cook will take over coaching duties at Madison in the fall. The present coaching staff consists of four assistants whom Cook will interview and may replace with outside coaches if he so desires.

Cook is married and has a 5½-month-old daughter. He is working on his master's degree at Ohio State University during the summers. His two-year contract calls for a salary of $5,950 a year and he will teach either mathematics or physical education.

East End Rezoning Ordinance Defeated; Another Proposed

City Council last night turned down one east end rezoning ordinance, but set a public hearing on another. At the same time they referred to the Planning and Zoning Commission a request to rezone still another east end property from Class B Residential to Class C Commercial.

The solons on December 28 tabled an ordinance which would rezone an area bounded by E. Main St., Mingo St., Pleasant Alley and Alley No. 4. Later another ordinance was introduced which greatly expanded the proposed area to be rezoned.

Last night the lawmakers defeated the second ordinance which would rezone the larger territory and reeintroduced the original ordinance.

Two weeks ago residents of the E. Main St., Mingo St. area appealed to Council not to rezone the larger area from residential to commercial, but at the same time they indicated they would approve rezoning the smaller area which includes the Alfred Lee Lumber Co., at 493 E. Main St. Public hearing on the smaller area is set for May 6.

Council sent to the Planning and Zoning body a new rezoning proposition, which calls for the change from Class B residential to Class C Commercial of two tracts, each .72 acres, located at the intersection of Mound and Main Sts.

Fred Mavis, owner of the property, said he has no immediate plans for the area, but indicated it is unsuitable for residential construction.

'Electronic Cops' Guard Schools Now

HACKENSACK, N. J. (AP)—"Electronic policemen" have been credited with eliminating school vandalism here.

Police Chief Westervelt Demarest and Board of Education members announced that the use of sensitive microphones in closed schools has cut the cost of vandalism from $50,000 three years ago to nothing.

Council Approves Issuance Of Bonds, Seeks Tax Draw

The legislators OKd an ordinance providing for the issuance of $25,000 in bonds to pay off street improvement notes; approved issuance of $9,000 in bonds to purchase a property at 473 N. Court St., adopted a resolution asking the county auditor for a $10,000 advance draw on taxes and approved a contract with Burgess & Niple, Columbus engineering firm, for services.

The $25,000 in bonds will be used to pay off notes issued last year to finance paving of Sunset Drive, Lewis Road, Georgia Road, Lone Pine Road, Nicholas Drive and S. Pickaway St.

It was anticipated when the notes were issued that they would be paid off during the year, but lack of finances made that impossible, so, bonds had to be issued at this time.

Council approved issuance of $9,000 in bonds to finance purchase of 473 N. Court St., to be used as a new entrance to Ted Lewis Park.

* * *

THE BURGESS & NIPLE contract is a continuation of the contract which the city had with the engineering firm last year.

The solons authorized Service Director Carl Radcliff to bid as high as $500 for a road grader to be auctioned soon at Marion. They also authorized Radcliff to prepare a grade along Atwater Ave. from Northridge Road to Seyfert Ave., so that residents may install curbs and gutters and sidewalks at their own expense.

David Crawford and Joseph Bell were named as Council members of the Police Pension Board, while John Jenkins and Boyd Horn will be members of the Fire Pension Board.

Violator Maintains No-Pay Attitude

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — When aircraft worker Herbert Meyer was cited for making an illegal turn in traffic four years ago, he wrote the court:

"I will not appear and will not pay a fine. If you feel that I am guilty and must suffer, send a police car to my home and I will spend the weekend in jail."

The warrant finally caught up with Meyer, 35, when he tried to renew his driver's license. He appeared before Municipal Judge Julian Beck, who gave him the alternative of a $50 fine or five days in jail.

Apparently not mellowed by time, Meyer elected to go to jail.

Legal Ruling Due Friday on O'Neill Aides

COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. William Saxbe will release Friday opinions on the job status of two cabinet members in the O'Neill administration.

The jobs are held by Dr. Robert Haines, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, and Charles M. Noble, state highway chief.

The rulings are expected to say whether appointments of the two officials by Gov. C. William O'Neill followed proper procedures.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes said that if the opinions are adverse to the administration he will be forced to cut Dr. Haines from the state payroll. Noble is in a different position. The Legislature made a separate appropriation to pay the highway chief, who is carried on O'Neill's office payroll as a secretary.

One question involved is whether O'Neill could make the appointments after the Legislature went home when he failed to fill the vacancies during the regular session. Appointments of both directors require Senate OK.

President Says

frantic spending or tax cutting of the kind that would pile up any $15 billion deficit.

* * *

HE SAID the administration will wait 30 to 60 days for signs of an "unmistakable trend" in the direction of the economy before deciding on tax cuts.

Eisenhower today set aside most of his formal schedule for economic discussions.

He scheduled an afternoon conference with eight governors, members of the Executive Committee of the Governors' Conference. He wanted to discuss with them his proposal for extension of unemployment compensation payments.

Eisenhower told the annual Republican Women's Conference Tuesday he is flatly opposed to what he called the "make-work approach with its vast, slow-moving projects" because he feels it might "turn a recession into a long-term economic headache."

Subsequently the Federal Reserve Board reduced the reserve requirements for member banks to make a potential $3 billion available for loans.

The cut, the second within a month, reduced the reserve requirements for banks' demand deposits to the lowest levels since the depression years of the 1930s.

But Wall Street reaction indicated surprise only at the smallness of the cut (half of 1 per cent) and included predictions still another reduction may be ordered soon.

U. S. Prestige at Low Ebb With Indonesian Officials

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)— U.S. prestige in official Indonesian quarters is at its lowest ebb in many years.

Hardly a day passes without some official taking a private or public swipe at U. S. policy toward Indonesia. Just nine years ago Indonesians had nothing but praise for the United States, hailing its role in getting the Dutch to give Indonesia independence.

Now the newspapers in the capital, whatever their political complexion, take almost daily digs at Secretary of State Dulles.

This unfriendliness rubs off on American correspondents, who are denied even the most ordinary privileges in trying to report the activities of the government and the army.

The official attitude has not, so far, affected relations between Indonesian individuals and ordinary workaday Americans living here. The free and easy manner of Americans has always made them popular here and the popularity continues at lower levels.

Nor has the split on policy entirely soured diplomatic contacts. Members of the U. S. Embassy maintain cordial relations with their opposite numbers in the government.

The fall in prestige mainly is because of the conflict between the central government in Jakarta and the month-old revolutionary regime in Central Sumatra and North Celebes.

Government officials suspect strongly, but never have said so outright, that there has been American interference in the struggle on the side of the rebels.

Arms dropped to the rebels at Pakanbaru, just before government troops captured that Caltex Oil Co. area, reinforced the already generally accepted belief that the United States is meddling.

The State Department has denied involvement.

But a Dulles statement at a news conference, in which he voiced a desire to see constitutional government restored in Indonesia, has been interpreted as unwarranted interference. A statement by Adm. Wallace Beakley, U. S. 7th fleet commander, saying he hoped for a stable government was received the same way.

More than anything else, probably, Indonesian officials are ruffled by the American tendency to regard the rebellion as directed at a Communist regime in Jakarta.

It is not a Communist regime. Premier Djuanda is a nonparty moderate. His cabinet contains three leftists, but no Communists.

Officials resent criticism that President Sukarno is coddling communists by giving them posts on a 45-member national council to represent different walks of life. The President reportedly contends his objective is to contain communism by giving it a voice.

His friends say he recognizes a danger that the communists may gain power but he blames them less than the established political parties which seem unable to match the communists.

Sukarno went out of his way last week on the official level to show he wants U. S. good will and friendship. He gave an exceptionally cordial reception to Howard Jones, the new U. S. ambassador, and warmly praises Jones' predecessor, John M. Allison, long a target of the communists' most vicious thrusts.

Fiscal Sanity on Upswing

The House of Representatives at Washington has finally passed the "accrued expenditures" measure — labeled the Keystone of the Hoover Commission's recommendations for budgetary reform. The vote was more than three to one.

The bill now goes to the Senate, where favorable action is expected. An almost identical bill was passed by the Senate last year.

The measure is designed to end the practice that permits various agencies of the federal government to retain carryover funds from one fiscal period to another. The backlog of money piled up in this manner and beyond further congressional review has been estimated at as much as $70 billion—almost a full year's federal budget.

If Congress enacts the Hoover proposal, as now seems certain, it will thereafter make its allotment of funds on an annual basis, reviewing projects under way each year. The possible savings have been estimated in the billions.

There is reason to believe that if federal bureaus are required to make an accounting each year there will be more efficiency. Surely Congress, by making certain that the purposes for which it appropriates are being carried out, would insure a better return on the money being spent.

The proposal has the support of the White House, Budget Director Brundage, Comptroller General Campbell, and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. The proposal is the product of some of the country's best minds, outstanding men who voluntarily served under former President Hoover in the search for a more efficient government.

At a time of mounting government costs, at a time when every saving is important, a proposal such as this should be speeded to final enactment.

In this brave new world a man has to be brave to retain his sanity.

It's Final--Milady's in the Bag

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Can 50 million American men be wrong?

Will their wives, sisters, mothers and daughters really go for that new so-called "sack look" in their clothing?

The answer is yes, the men are wrong; and, yes, the American woman seems already sold on the chemise silhouette in everything from nightgowns to evening dresses. As far as milady herself is concerned, she's in the bag.

It will do no good for the average husband to announce sternly he will refuse to escort in public a wife dressed to resemble an ambulant sugar sack or a strolling bean bag. For no matter whose wife he goes out with, that's how she is going to look.

At the risk of being denounced as a traitor by millions of American men still unreconciled to the new feminine styles, I'd like to cast a solid vote in favor of them. And for several reasons.

For one thing, they make it easier to tell men and women apart, something that has been getting more and more difficult in this civilization.

How can you identify them at a glance? If it wears an Ivy League (or skinned rabbit) look, it is a man. If it billows like a sailboat in a strong breeze as it passes, it is a woman.

Going for a walk with a girl clad in one of these not-quite-blown-up balloon dresses has a new air of risk and requires a certain daring challenging to a real man. He never knows when a sudden gust of wind may swirl her drapery around him and smother him before bystanders can rush to his aid.

Another thing I find entrancing in the new style is the sense of mystery it gives a woman. You can never tell what will be her next move. She has to take four steps before the dress begins going, too. It also lends some of the entrancing appeal of a circus tent: You wonder what could be beneath all that flapping canvas.

Perhaps, however, the soundest reason of all for endorsing the "sack look" is that if their menfolks applaud it women will quickly tire of it, figuring there must be something basically wrong with any fashion that men approve.

But if men keep attacking the style, the girls will simply be inspired to go on to something worse. And anyone who thinks there can't be anything worse than the "sack look" is just plain unversed in the history of past horrors committed by women in the name of fashion.

The flapper wore a cloth hat that fitted as closely as a Greek helmet. She wore a shapeless short gunnysack dress and ornamented it with tassels and beads. She rolled her socks below her knees.

Nope, fellows, it's better to go quietly along with the "sack look" until women repent of their own accord and go on to other and nobler forms of madness.

Propaganda by Repetition

By George Sokolsky

The Russian propaganda machine manages by constant repetition to force upon our minds certain symbols and concepts which we repeat and which after prolonged repetition come to be accepted as our own. One of these concepts is as old as the "Hands Across the Seas" symbol.

I was sitting next to a wise man recently and we were listening to a speaker say that we should all know each other better and that he is happy that the United States is extending its cultural inter-relations. The man next to me said that the only people he ever quarrelled with were those whom he knew, like his wife, for instance.

He said that the people in all this world whom we know best are the British. To a lesser degree, the same is true about the Germans. The two largest components of the American population are the British and the Germans; yet they are the only nations against whom we have fought two wars.

The people we hardly know at all are Indians, Indonesians, Ceylonese, and other Asiatics but we sputter all over ourselves when we think of them. Somehow the less we know them, the more wonderful they seem to us. So, for instance, we got all excited over an Indonesian socialist, by name Sukarno, who was given a red-carpet reception when he came to the United States. but who now goes in for a doctrine called "guided democracy."

According to the anti-Communist Sumatrans, this "guided democracy" is a cover for letting the Communists join the government. Precisely what the difference is bewteen Sukarno s "guided democracy," and Nasser's "presidential democracy," and Tito's benevolent paternalism, I cannot tell you.

Suffice it, that nobody can be too angry about something he knows nothing about, although he may have prejudices on the subject based on general principles. Let us say that I listen to David Oistrakh play the Beethoven Violin Concerto. Also Isaac Stern plays it. Also Francescatti plays it. Also Elman and everybody else. The most I can say is that Oistrakh is a first-class violinist who can play the Beethoven Violin Concerto with ability, understanding and sympathy. But does that make me like Khrushchev? Does it cause me to prefer the Russian system of government or the Russian way of life?

Or look at the other side of the coin. A Negro trumpet player wants to go to Russia to play the trumpet there in jazz style. His name is "Satchmo" Armstrong. I do not know what Satchmo means, although someone told me, maybe to fool me, that it is a nickname for a big mouth. I heard him once and marvelled at his enormous chest expansion. What he played bored me but my son says it is good which explains the difference in generations.

Now after the Russians have listened to the aforesaid Satchmo, will they have a better understanding of the American Constitution, the capitalist system, the revolt against Puritanism, and other manifestations of American life?

When we speak about cultural exchanges, and we decide not to leave such exchanges to the accidents of life and the free will of individuals, but force them by government propaganda and recruitment, what do we actually accomplish?

Recently, a bright young man and his wife upbraided me for not getting hot and bothered about the failure of our government to spend more money to advertise our civilization at the world's fair to be held in Belgium. To tell the truth, I had barely paid any attention to this subject, but while I was being upbraided, it occurred to me to wonder who will be convinced by what at this world's fair?

If we are to resolve our Cold War with Soviet Russia, we have to convince only one man, namely Khrushchev. All right, for argument's sake, let us agree that we have to convince also Mikoyan, Bulganin and three or four others of their colleagues. What will convince these hard-boiled second generation Communists? It is not likely to be the Rockettes or the Philadelphia Symphony.

Well what would convince them that they ought to cut down the cost of the Cold War? Probably nothing but evidence that even if they get in the first smack, we have enough to destroy quickly and with perfection the material gains of their revolution.

Spas are abou o sage a comeback, a retailers convention is told. Maybe you think this doesn't make sense—but it's the perfect male answer to the current chemise and sad sack styles.

In their day, spats not only were considered very elegant but they were the greatest defense against chigger bites ever invented.

Spats also performed another fine funcion. If a fellow wore 'em he just had to keep his shoes shined, too.

The real dandies of a generation or so ago sported fancy vests, derbies, canes and, of course, spats. Compared to the toffs of Papa's early days the well-dressed man of today would have looked like a bum.

Spats usually came in two colors —mud gray and dust tan. This made 'em almost emmune to any kind of weather.

It must come as a shock to the younger generation to learn a spat can be a garment and not just a difference of opinion between husband and wife.

Grandpappy Jenkins says he recalls an old spats - wearing friend of his who, to win a bet, went around for a whole week with his feet innocent of socks—and nobody was any the wiser.

"And now the highlight of the evening—the presentation of a fifty-year service award to good old What's-his-name here."

Early Signs Are Symtoms

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

During my years as a medical columnist, I have written countless articles about children's diseases, describing their symptoms and treatment.

But I continually receive requests from mothers asking about symptoms of illnesses such as measles,, chickenpox, whooping cough and others. So I'd like to list again some of these contagious diseases and their early signs and symptoms.

Chickenpox—There is a skin eruption associated with fever. The rash occurs early and consists of successive crops of red, raised dots which turn into fluid-filled blisters on the trunk of the body.

Measles — This disease starts like a cold, with fever, watery eyes and nose and sometimes sneezing and a slight cough. The rash, which occurs on the third to fifth day after the fever begins, is composed of groups of dull red blotches which begin on the face and spread downward over the body.

German Measles — First indication probably will be a rash and a slight swelling of the glands on back of the neck. The rash of small, pinkish-red blotches begins behind the ears and on the face.

Mumps — There is no rash with mumps. Symptoms consist of fever, nausea, pain and the familiar swelling about the jaws.

Whooping Cough — This starts with symptoms similar to those of a cold. You might be deceived until the characteristic "whoop" develops in the cough.

Coughing frequently occurs in spasms and is accompanied by vomiting.

We don't have too many cases of the following in America any more, thanks to our vaccination programs, but perhaps I had better list the symptoms anyway:

Smallpox — There is a sudden onset of high fever, headache and backache. On the third or fourth day this is followed by an eruption of red spots which become elevated and turn into watery and then pus-filled blisters. Generally, all the lesions are in the same stage. They first appear on the face and forearms.

Diphtheria — A sore throat with gray-white patches is the first sign. There also will be moderate fever and a croupy cough. There is no rash.

Scarlet Fever — This disease begins suddenly with fever, vomiting, sore throat and development of a rash and "strawberry tongue." Pin-point bright red dots usually appear first on the neck and upper chest, although in some cases they do not appear at all.

Question and Answer

L. T.: I have calluses on the soles of my feet. They have been removed several times but recur.

Is there any way I can get rid of them permanently?

Answer: Calluses of this type can be removed by the use of dry ice. The cure usually is permanent, once they have been removed.

THE DEVIL, YOU SAY? — Well, you'd be right, for it's a Tasmanian devil, a new addition to the Washington zoo. He's as fierce as he looks—raids sheep flocks, kills most anything for food, sleeps by day, lurks by night. Tasmania is an island off Australia. (International)

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning to feel squirrely? It's them Russians again. They just came up with an idea that was good propaganda, set the Democrats and Republicans to waltzing, and left everybody exactly no place.

This was the idea: the United Nations should control outer space. The Democrats complained they had the idea first, that the Soviets grabbed it, and that the Eisenhower administration should have grabbed it before the Soviets.

To all of which Secretary of State Dulles reacted like a man saying: "What's all this I'm hearing? It was the President's idea."

Actually the Soviets came up with two ideas. Together the Democrats and Republicans jumped on the second one. They want no part of it. But, since the Soviets made it an all-or-nothing proposition, the score is: 0.

In their current literary marathon on peace and a summit meeting, Eisenhower has written Premier Bulganin three letters. Bulganin has written him four. Both men have spent some time writing about outer space.

Last Jan. 12 Eisenhower suggested "we agree that outer space be used only for peaceful purposes." This was pretty vague. No mention of the U.N. but on Jan. 14 Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic Senate boss, did mention the U.N.

He proposed this country take the initiative in suggesting before the U.N. that all nations "join in the adventure into outer space together." No matter what he had in mind, Johnson didn't quite say the U.N. should control outer space.

Once again, when he wrote Bulganin Feb. 15, Eisenhower omitted mention of the U.N. but vaguely, he talked of "cooperative international procedures to give reality to the idea of the use of outer space for peace only."

Bulganin through all this was even vaguer than Eisenhower, and both were vaguer than Johnson who on Feb. 3 called for a "joint exploration of outer space by the United Nations." And that wasn't specific either.

Bulganin never went beyond saying the Soviet Union was "ready" or "prepared" to examine the question of banning "cosmic space for military purposes. . ." But the Soviets pulled a fast one March 15. They bypassed the letter-writing campaign.

The Soviet Foreign Office issued a statement, made public at once to get the maximum propaganda benefit, proposing the U.N. control not only outer space but also the "elimination" of American overseas bases. This was a one-package deal.

Democrats and Republicans promptly turned it down: this country wants those overseas bases from which American bombers could hit the Soviet Union in a hurry if the Soviets attacked.

Dulles, right after returning from Asia, recalled that Eisenhower had proposed international control of outer space. Did he? If that's what he had in mind, he didn't say it in so many words. But neither did Johnson.

But there's a real joker in this: if the United States and the Soviet Union ever did agree to let the U.N. have outer space control, both countries would probably be running a regular trolley service to the moon before they ever got down to agreeing on just how the U.N. would do the controlling.

Both countries have been talking in the U.N. for 12 years on disarmament and have produced a complete blank. It's even reached the point where the Soviet Union is refusing to discuss disarmament in the U.N.

For one thing, they make it easier to tell men and women apart, something that has been getting more and more difficult in this civilization.

How can you identify them at a glance? If it wears an Ivy League (or skinned rabbit) look, it is a man. If it billows like a sailboat in a strong breeze as it passes, it is a woman.

Going for a walk with a girl clad in one of these not-quite-blown-up balloon dresses has a new air of risk and requires a certain daring challenging to a real man. He never knows when a sudden gust of wind may swirl her drapery around him and smother him before bystanders can rush to his aid.

Another thing I find entrancing in the new style is the sense of mystery it gives a woman. You can never tell what will be her next move. She has to take four steps before the dress begins going, too. It also lends some of the entrancing appeal of a circus tent: You wonder what could be beneath all that flapping canvas.

Perhaps, however, the soundest reason of all for endorsing the "sack look" is that if their menfolks applaud it women will quickly tire of it, figuring there must be something basically wrong with any fashion that men approve.

But if men keep attacking the style, the girls will simply be inspired to go on to something worse. And anyone who thinks there can't be anything worse than the "sack look" is just plain unversed in the history of past horrors committed by women in the name of fashion.

The flapper wore a cloth hat that fitted as closely as a Greek helmet. She wore a shapeless short gunnysack dress and ornamented it with tassels and beads. She rolled her socks below her knees.

Nope, fellows, it's better to go quietly along with the "sack look" until women repent of their own accord and go on to other and nobler forms of madness.

Propaganda by Repetition

By George Sokolsky

The Russian propaganda machine manages by constant repetition to force upon our minds certain symbols and concepts which we repeat and which after prolonged repetition come to be accepted as our own. One of these concepts is as old as the "Hands Across the Seas" symbol.

I was sitting next to a wise man recently and we were listening to a speaker say that we should all know each other better and that he is happy that the United States is extending its cultural inter-relations. The man next to me said that the only people he ever quarrelled with were those whom he knew, like his wife, for instance.

He said that the people in all this world whom we know best are the British. To a lesser degree, the same is true about the Germans. The two largest components of the American population are the British and the Germans; yet they are the only nations against whom we have fought two wars.

The people we hardly know at all are Indians, Indonesians, Ceylonese, and other Asiatics but we sputter all over ourselves when we think of them. Somehow the less we know them, the more wonderful they seem to us. So, for instance, we got all excited over an Indonesian socialist, by name Sukarno, who was given a red-carpet reception when he came to the United States. but who now goes in for a doctrine called "guided democracy."

According to the anti-Communist Sumatrans, this "guided democracy" is a cover for letting the Communists join the government. Precisely what the difference is bewteen Sukarno s "guided democracy," and Nasser's "presidential democracy," and Tito's benevolent paternalism, I cannot tell you.

Suffice it, that nobody can be too angry about something he knows nothing about, although he may have prejudices on the subject based on general principles. Let us say that I listen to David Oistrakh play the Beethoven Violin Concerto. Also Isaac Stern plays it. Also Francescatti plays it. Also Elman and everybody else. The most I can say is that Oistrakh is a first-class violinist who can play the Beethoven Violin Concerto with ability, understanding and sympathy. But does that make me like Khrushchev? Does it cause me to prefer the Russian system of government or the Russian way of life?

Or look at the other side of the coin. A Negro trumpet player wants to go to Russia to play the trumpet there in jazz style. His name is "Satchmo" Armstrong. I do not know what Satchmo means, although someone told me, maybe to fool me, that it is a nickname for a big mouth. I heard him once and marvelled at his enormous chest expansion. What he played bored me but my son says it is good which explains the difference in generations.

Now after the Russians have listened to the aforesaid Satchmo, will they have a better understanding of the American Constitution, the capitalist system, the revolt against Puritanism, and other manifestations of American life?

When we speak about cultural exchanges, and we decide not to leave such exchanges to the accidents of life and the free will of individuals, but force them by government propaganda and recruitment, what do we actually accomplish?

Recently, a bright young man and his wife upbraided me for not getting hot and bothered about the failure of our government to spend more money to advertise our civilization at the world's fair to be held in Belgium. To tell the truth, I had barely paid any attention to this subject, but while I was being upbraided, it occurred to me to wonder who will be convinced by what at this world's fair?

If we are to resolve our Cold War with Soviet Russia, we have to convince only one man, namely Khrushchev. All right, for argument's sake, let us agree that we have to convince also Mikoyan, Bulganin and three or four others of their colleagues. What will convince these hard-boiled second generation Communists? It is not likely to be the Rockettes or the Philadelphia Symphony.

Well what would convince them that they ought to cut down the cost of the Cold War? Probably nothing but evidence that even if they get in the first smack, we have enough to destroy quickly and with perfection the material gains of their revolution.

Spas are abou o sage a comeback, a retailers convention is told. Maybe you think this doesn't make sense—but it's the perfect male answer to the current chemise and sad sack styles.

In their day, spats not only were considered very elegant but they were the greatest defense against chigger bites ever invented.

Spats also performed another fine funcion. If a fellow wore 'em he just had to keep his shoes shined, too.

The real dandies of a generation or so ago sported fancy vests, derbies, canes and, of course, spats. Compared to the toffs of Papa's early days the well-dressed man of today would have looked like a bum.

Spats usually came in two colors —mud gray and dust tan. This made 'em almost emmune to any kind of weather.

It must come as a shock to the younger generation to learn a spat can be a garment and not just a difference of opinion between husband and wife.

Grandpappy Jenkins says he recalls an old spats - wearing friend of his who, to win a bet, went around for a whole week with his feet innocent of socks—and nobody was any the wiser.

Monroe Doctrine Hailed by Speaker

CINCINNATI (AP)—L. G. Hoes, president of the Monroe Foundation of Fredericksburg, Va., says he believes few Americans understand the Monroe Doctrine.

He said it has "kept foreign aggressor and impailistic nations out of the Western Hemisphere."

Early Signs Are Symtoms

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

During my years as a medical columnist, I have written countless articles about children's diseases, describing their symptoms and treatment.

But I continually receive requests from mothers asking about symptoms of illnesses such as measles,, chickenpox, whooping cough and others. So I'd like to list again some of these contagious diseases and their early signs and symptoms.

Chickenpox—There is a skin eruption associated with fever. The rash occurs early and consists of successive crops of red, raised dots which turn into fluid-filled blisters on the trunk of the body.

Measles — This disease starts like a cold, with fever, watery eyes and nose and sometimes sneezing and a slight cough. The rash, which occurs on the third to fifth day after the fever begins, is composed of groups of dull red blotches which begin on the face and spread downward over the body.

German Measles — First indication probably will be a rash and a slight swelling of the glands on back of the neck. The rash of small, pinkish-red blotches begins behind the ears and on the face.

Mumps — There is no rash with mumps. Symptoms consist of fever, nausea, pain and the familiar swelling about the jaws.

Whooping Cough — This starts with symptoms similar to those of a cold. You might be deceived until the characteristic "whoop" develops in the cough.

Coughing frequently occurs in spasms and is accompanied by vomiting.

We don't have too many cases of the following in America any more, thanks to our vaccination programs, but perhaps I had better list the symptoms anyway:

Smallpox — There is a sudden onset of high fever, headache and backache. On the third or fourth day this is followed by an eruption of red spots which become elevated and turn into watery and then pus-filled blisters. Generally, all the lesions are in the same stage. They first appear on the face and forearms.

Diphtheria — A sore throat with gray-white patches is the first sign. There also will be moderate fever and a croupy cough. There is no rash.

Scarlet Fever — This disease begins suddenly with fever, vomiting, sore throat and development of a rash and "strawberry tongue." Pin-point bright red dots usually appear first on the neck and upper chest, although in some cases they do not appear at all.

Question and Answer

L. T.: I have calluses on the soles of my feet. They have been removed several times but recur.

Is there any way I can get rid of them permanently?

Answer: Calluses of this type can be removed by the use of dry ice. The cure usually is permanent, once they have been removed.

THE DEVIL, YOU SAY? — Well, you'd be right, for it's a Tasmanian devil, a new addition to the Washington zoo. He's as fierce as he looks—raids sheep flocks, kills most anything for food, sleeps by day, lurks by night. Tasmania is an island off Australia. (International)

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning to feel squirrely? It's them Russians again. They just came up with an idea that was good propaganda, set the Democrats and Republicans to waltzing, and left everybody exactly no place.

This was the idea: the United Nations should control outer space. The Democrats complained they had the idea first, that the Soviets grabbed it, and that the Eisenhower administration should have grabbed it before the Soviets.

To all of which Secretary of State Dulles reacted like a man saying: "What's all this I'm hearing? It was the President's idea."

Actually the Soviets came up with two ideas. Together the Democrats and Republicans jumped on the second one. They want no part of it. But, since the Soviets made it an all-or-nothing proposition, the score is: 0.

In their current literary marathon on peace and a summit meeting, Eisenhower has written Premier Bulganin three letters. Bulganin has written him four. Both men have spent some time writing about outer space.

Last Jan. 12 Eisenhower suggested "we agree that outer space be used only for peaceful purposes." This was pretty vague. No mention of the U.N. but on Jan. 14 Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic Senate boss, did mention the U.N.

He proposed this country take the initiative in suggesting before the U.N. that all nations "join in the adventure into outer space together." No matter what he had in mind, Johnson didn't quite say the U.N. should control outer space.

Once again, when he wrote Bulganin Feb. 15, Eisenhower omitted mention of the U.N. but vaguely, he talked of "cooperative international procedures to give reality to the idea of the use of outer space for peace only."

Bulganin through all this was even vaguer than Eisenhower, and both were vaguer than Johnson who on Feb. 3 called for a "joint exploration of outer space by the United Nations." And that wasn't specific either.

Bulganin never went beyond saying the Soviet Union was "ready" or "prepared" to examine the question of banning "cosmic space for military purposes. . . ." But the Soviets pulled a fast one March 15. They bypassed the letter-writing campaign.

The Soviet Foreign Office issued a statement, made public at once to get the maximum propaganda benefit, proposing the U.N. control not only outer space but also the "elimination" of American overseas bases. This was a one-package deal.

Democrats and Republicans promptly turned it down: this country wants those overseas bases from which American bombers could hit the Soviet Union in a hurry if the Soviets attacked.

Dulles, right after returning from Asia, recalled that Eisenhower had proposed international control of outer space. Did he? If that's what he had in mind, he didn't say it in so many words. But neither did Johnson.

But there's a real joker in this: if the United States and the Soviet Union ever did agree to let the U.N. have outer space control, both countries would probably be running a regular trolley service to the moon before they ever got down to agreeing on just how the U.N. would do the controlling.

Both countries have been talking in the U.N. for 12 years on disarmament and have produced a complete blank. It's even reached the point where the Soviet Union is refusing to discuss disarmament in the U.N.

Try and Stop Me

A NEW ENGLAND manufacturer was in the market for bullfrog skins, and a Texan promptly wrote that he could supply any quantity up to 100,000. "Send them all," invited the manufacturer.

A few days later one forlorn frogskin arrived with this note attached to the box: "Turned out this is all the frogskins there was. The noise sure fooled me!"

U.S. Industrial Drop Sharpens Economic Talk

Debate on Increase Regarding Role of Federal Government

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The drop in industrial output — greater percentagewise than in either the 1953-54 or 1949 recessions—sharpens the debate today over what the federal government can or should do about it.

The President is conferring today with a group of governors to discuss the role of the states.

Without taking sides let's look at the pros and cons of the various proposals: tax cutting or public works; easier and cheaper money or bolstering what remains of the purchasing power of the dollar; reliance on the present cushions and stabilizers or increasing them greatly so that the public purse refills the emptying private purse.

And, finally, there are those who advocate as the safest a hands off policy to let business and consumers alike work out their inventory problems and rekindle a new and sounder boom.

But first it should be noted that while industrial output has fallen 12 per cent from its record point set in December 1956, it still is comfortably above the low point of 1954 and way above that of 1949. Also the drop is far from general or even — nondurables have fallen but 4 per cent, and some of them like food, beverages and tobacco almost not at all.

Advocates of individual corporate and excise tax cuts say this would put money at once into the pockets of consumers of spending, business for expanding and should lower prices on some goods subject to excise levies.

Opponents say there is no guarantee the tax savings would be spent. The resultant increase in the federal debt they fear would nourish inflation and resultant higher prices would offset any tax savings.

Sponsors of public works say it would make jobs and the benefits would spread.

Others say public works take too long getting started, that such made work often pays the men less than they got at their old trade and leaves them disinclined to become big spenders until the old jobs reopen.

Cheaper money advocates are counting heavily on bolstering home building and plant expansion that way. Credit already has been made easier and interest rates have slipped. But some hold this must be stepped up to be effective.

Those who fear going much further say it could easily spawn speculative construction and speculative business enterprises. Added to the inflationary pressure of the federal deficit already in sight, they see the threat of faster climbing prices which milk away the purchasing power of whatever size paycheck the worker commands.

In between are the moderates who urge that present cushions be tried a little longer: the unemployment benefits, the already easier money, and the treasury deficit being built up by reduced tax collections whether government spending goes up or not.

If these don't work they urge building the cushions a little higher: bigger or longer benefit payments; speeding up of public works already scheduled; token tax cuts; further easing of mortgage terms.

At the far end of the spectrum are the few who doubt if government actions will have much effect; who say the change in consumer and business spending habits came long before the recession hit the headlines; that a temporarily surfeited economy needs only time for digestion before solving its own ills in its own way. And this they argue is the surest and safest.

GRANDFATHER OF NEW PRINCE—John B. Kelly (right) hands a cigar to Russell C. Austin after he had received the news in Miami Beach, Fla., that his daughter, Princess Grace of Monaco, had given birth to a boy. The baby, who weighed in at 8 pounds, 11 ounces, is blue-eyed and brown-haired. His name is Albert Alexander Louis Pierre. (International)

Educational TV in Virginia Proving To Be of Top Value

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — In New York you hear many fine theories about using television for education. In Norfolk a commercially successful station has been making educational TV a fact for many months.

Each week day station WVEC-TV offers 2½ hours of forthright, gimmick - free educational programing. It is directed primarily to classroom students. The public can tune in too—and does.

It began last September after the Ford Foundation for the Advancement of Education made a grant of $56,000, which was matched by the Norfolk public schools system, to use television for teaching students in nine large city schools.

Thomas P. Chisman, young and energetic president of the Peninsula Broadcasting Corp., offered two hours of WVEC-TV daily air time—time spots worth thousands of dollars. The station charges only $400 a month to cover the cost of image orthicon tubes, the principal tube in TV cameras.

"We had those two hours free from our network commitments as an NBC affiliate," Chisman says. "And I've always believed that television has a greater potential than only entertainment. What good is a theory if you never put it into practice? So we did."

WVEC-TV has been telecasting geometry, American history, Virginia history and elementary science taught by four public school teachers. Students in groups numbering from 250 to 300 at a time are studying these television-taught subjects.

"At the end of four months," says Chisman, "the school system found that television geometry students were ahead of non-television geometry students. And in all courses it was found that there are no disciplinary problems in television - taught classes. Even the record for tardiness was a way down.'

Daytonian Elected

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio School Boards Assn. elected Ray W. Kimmey of Dayton, an executive of General Motors Corp., to be chairman of the Statehouse Conference on Education Tuesday.

Rail Freight Shipping Seen Facing Drop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Valley Transportation Advisory Board is predicting an over-all drop of 12.9 per cent in railroad freight shipments during the second quarter of 1958 compared with the same period last year.

R. S. Thomas of Cincinnati, general chairman of the board, announced the forecast as the board opened its two-day meeting here. Several hundred freight shippers and receivers from Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia and Ohio are attending.

In actual carloads handled, the biggest decline is predicted for coal and coke, expected to be down 14.8 per cent from 889,497 cars to 757,953. Other decreases forecast include: Iron and steel, down 10.2 per cent from 14,743 cars to 13,243; automobiles and trucks, down 7.9 per cent from 1,365 to 1,257; gravel, sand and stone, down 3.8 per cent from 26,262 to 25,262; machinery and boilers, down 3.5 per cent from 4,032 to 3,890; brick and clay products, down 3.4 per cent from 5,101 to 4,926; livestock, down 3.3 per cent from 2,989 to 2,890.

Only four of the 26 items listed are expected to show increases, the board said. They are: Earthenware and pottery, up 7.8 per cent from 51 cars to 55; tobacco, up 4.9 per cent from 314 to 329; agricultural implements, up 2.5 per cent from 722 to 740; food products, cans and packages, up 0.5 per cent from 4,545 to 4,569.

Ohio Farmers Plan Corn Planting Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio farmers will plant an estimated 3,445,000 acres in corn, or 102 per cent of last year's corn acreage, the Agriculture Department reports.

Other estimated acreages of important crops in Ohio, and the percentages they represent of last year's plantings, are:

Oats—1,110,000 acres, or 95 per cent.

Soybeans (for all purposes)—1,489,000 acres, or 103 per cent.

Sugar beets—24,000 acres, or 104 per cent.

Tobacco—13,100 acres, or 101 per cent.

Potatoes (late summer and fall crop)—19,400 acres, or 101 per cent.

Prof. Samuel P. Bayard of Pennsylvania State University, has more than 275 unusual snuff boxes in his collection, including one with an attached grater which permitted its thrifty user to grind his own snuff from tobacco.

After 37 Years, Book Is Returned

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — It took 37 years, but the public library here got its book, "Tales of Chivalry," back Tuesday.

The book was dropped into the curbside depository, and its record folder had been torn out of the back.

It was not necessary for the long-time holder to have done that, said Miss Emma Hale, head librarian, for she has no record showing to whom the book was loaned.

Furthermore, there was no need to keep the identity secret, she added, because the $270 due on the book would have been waived.

This is National Library Week and penalties for overtime holders of books are not being collected.

Ohio Exports Total $1 Billion in Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Robert A. Rennie of Columbus, Ohio, told the House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday that Ohio exporters shipped more than $1 billion worth of goods to foreign countries last year.

Rennie, speaking in behalf of the Cooperative League of the U.S.A. to urge that Congress extend America's trade agreements program, said the trade directly or indirectly created work for some 350,000 Ohioans.

And, finally, there are those who advocate as the safest a hands off policy to let business and consumers alike work out their inventory problems and rekindle a new and sounder boom.

But first it should be noted that while industrial output has fallen 12 per cent from its record point set in December 1956, it still is comfortably above the low point of 1954 and way above that of 1949. Also the drop is far from general or even — nondurables have fallen but 4 per cent, and some of them like food, beverages and tobacco almost not at all.

Advocates of individual corporate and excise tax cuts say this would put money at once into the pockets of consumers of spending, business for expanding and should lower prices on some goods subject to excise levies.

Opponents say there is no guarantee the tax savings would be spent. The resultant increase in the federal debt they fear would nourish inflation and resultant higher prices would offset any tax savings.

Sponsors of public works say it would make jobs and the benefits would spread.

Others say public works take too long getting started, that such made work often pays the men less than they got at their old trade and leaves them disinclined to become big spenders until the old jobs reopen.

Cheaper money advocates are counting heavily on bolstering home building and plant expansion that way. Credit already has been made easier and interest rates have slipped. But some hold this must be stepped up to be effective.

Those who fear going much further say it could easily spawn speculative construction and speculative business enterprises. Added to the inflationary pressure of the federal deficit already in sight, they see the threat of faster climbing prices which milk away the purchasing power of whatever size paycheck the worker commands.

In between are the moderates who urge that present cushions be tried a little longer: the unemployment benefits, the already easier money, and the treasury deficit being built up by reduced tax collections whether government spending goes up or not.

If these don't work they urge building the cushions a little higher: bigger or longer benefit payments; speeding up of public works already scheduled; token tax cuts; further easing of mortgage terms.

At the far end of the spectrum are the few who doubt if government actions will have much effect; who say the change in consumer and business spending habits came long before the recession hit the headlines; that a temporarily surfeited economy needs only time for digestion before solving its own ills in its own way. And this they argue is the surest and safest.

Educational TV in Virginia Proving To Be of Top Value

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — In New York you hear many fine theories about using television for education. In Norfolk a commercially successful station has been making educational TV a fact for many months.

Each week day station WVEC-TV offers 2½ hours of forthright, gimmick - free educational programing. It is directed primarily to classroom students. The public can tune in too—and does.

It began last September after the Ford Foundation for the Advancement of Education made a grant of $56,000, which was matched by the Norfolk public schools system, to use television for teaching students in nine large city schools.

Thomas P. Chisman, young and energetic president of the Peninsula Broadcasting Corp., offered two hours of WVEC-TV daily air time—time spots worth thousands of dollars. The station charges only $400 a month to cover the cost of image orthicon tubes, the principal tube in TV cameras.

"We had those two hours free from our network commitments as an NBC affiliate," Chisman says. "And I've always believed that television has a greater potential than only entertainment. What good is a theory if you never put it into practice? So we did."

WVEC-TV has been telecasting geometry, American history, Virginia history and elementary science taught by four public school teachers. Students in groups numbering from 250 to 300 at a time are studying these television-taught subjects.

"At the end of four months," says Chisman, "the school system found that television geometry students were ahead of non-television geometry students. And in all courses it was found that there are no disciplinary problems in television - taught classes. Even the record for tardiness was a way down.'

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio School Boards Assn. elected Ray W. Kimmey of Dayton, an executive of General Motors Corp., to be chairman of the Statehouse Conference on Education Tuesday.

Rail Freight Shipping Seen Facing Drop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Valley Transportation Advisory Board is predicting an over-all drop of 12.9 per cent in railroad freight shipments during the second quarter of 1958 compared with the same period last year.

R. S. Thomas of Cincinnati, general chairman of the board, announced the forecast as the board opened its two-day meeting here. Several hundred freight shippers and receivers from Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia and Ohio are attending.

In actual carloads handled, the biggest decline is predicted for coal and coke, expected to be down 14.8 per cent from 889,497 cars to 757,953. Other decreases forecast include: Iron and steel, down 10.2 per cent from 14,743 cars to 13,243; automobiles and trucks, down 7.9 per cent from 1,365 to 1,257; gravel, sand and stone, down 3.8 per cent from 26,262 to 25,262; machinery and boilers, down 3.5 per cent from 4,032 to 3,890; brick and clay products, down 3.4 per cent from 5,101 to 4,926; livestock, down 3.3 per cent from 2,989 to 2,890.

Only four of the 26 items listed are expected to show increases, the board said. They are: Earthenware and pottery, up 7.8 per cent from 51 cars to 55; tobacco, up 4.9 per cent from 314 to 329; agricultural implements, up 2.5 per cent from 722 to 740; food products, cans and packages, up 0.5 per cent from 4,545 to 4,569.

Ohio Farmers Plan Corn Planting Hike

Other estimated acreages of important crops in Ohio, and the percentages they represent of last year's plantings, are:

Oats—1,110,000 acres, or 95 per cent.

Soybeans (for all purposes)—1,489,000 acres, or 103 per cent.

Sugar beets—24,000 acres, or 104 per cent.

Tobacco—13,100 acres, or 101 per cent.

Potatoes (late summer and fall crop)—19,400 acres, or 101 per cent.

After 37 Years, Book Is Returned

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — It took 37 years, but the public library here got its book, "Tales of Chivalry," back Tuesday.

The book was dropped into the curbside depository, and its record folder had been torn out of the back.

It was not necessary for the long-time holder to have done that, said Miss Emma Hale, head librarian, for she has no record showing to whom the book was loaned.

Furthermore, there was no need to keep the identity secret, she added, because the $270 due on the book would have been waived.

This is National Library Week and penalties for overtime holders of books are not being collected.

Ohio Exports Total $1 Billion in Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Robert A. Rennie of Columbus, Ohio, told the House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday that Ohio exporters shipped more than $1 billion worth of goods to foreign countries last year.

Rennie, speaking in behalf of the Cooperative League of the U.S.A. to urge that Congress extend America's trade agreements program, said the trade directly or indirectly created work for some 350,000 Ohioans.

Relaxed Look to be Seen In Spring '58 Silhouette

It's the era of the chemise. But all in favor of "femininity are urged to be of good cheer. Whether low-waisted or no-waisted, easy fitted or unfitted, the spring '58 silhouette of the chemise and its fashion relatives is shapely rather than straight, as the supple new coats, suits, dresses and separates delightfully prove.

With the chemise as inspiration, fashion plays many variations on the major theme of the slender, relaxed look. Shorter skirts accompany the look, and gracefully simple lines get emphasis through attractive trims, newly bold colors and beautifully textured fabrics.

As for the variations, there's the chemise itself — sometimes a smooth flow of fabric fitted only at the hips, and sometimes with a front detailed for a fitted look and a draped, tapering back. Chemise lines are seen in coats and suits as well as dresses. Alternatively, and importantly, there's the bloused look—a bloused top above a slim, easy skirt. This may be expressed through back blousing only, but all-around blousing, sometimes on a curving line that's up in front, down in back, is winning increasing approval.

Another relaxed silhouette features the overblouse—a lightly fitted, hipbone length top above, again, a slim skirt. The overblouse silhouette appears in two-piece and two-piece-look dresses, in suits and separates. In the case of coats, the same effect is often created by hip-level detailing.

* * *

OVER SHAPING gos its graceful way in coats and suit jackets, with softly rounded backs widest at the shoulders and tapered to the hem. This is the same shape seen in chemise dresses with fitted-look fronts.

Relaxed, too, are the lines of boxy coats and slim coats — the latter often loosely belted at the hipline.

Suits make their fashion stand on a variety of easy jackets combined with simple skirts. The little jacket barely covering the waistline is a distinctive entrant. Slightly longer jackets, fitted at the hip, free-flowing from the shoulder or easily belted, are other important suit components.

In most cases, suit skirts are slim and eased with a pleat at side or back. All-around knife pleats, box pleats or gores for a gentle flare appear among the skirt looks.

Sheath and shirtwaist dresses emerge as fashion classics with this-season airs and so demand a place for themselves in spring wardrobes. Both show the influence of the chemise — the sheath by frequently doffing its belt and always by displaying easier lines, the shirtwaist by exchanging its full skirt for one with restrained fullness or completely slender lines.

Costumes galore are the order of the season. Some of the favorites are dress plus jacket, suit plus coat, skirt plus coat, and jacket and skirt plus blouse.

Buttons, pockets and bows adorn spring fashions in imaginative ways. Self-fabric trims, too, are important—such as self-fringe on neckline ties, jacket and-or skirt hems. Self-belts are ofted slotted through the dress, suit or coat at the hipline.

Boldness in color, design and size is a frequent characteristic of accessories to accent the simple, supple fashion silhouette, and head-to-toe color matching, with lingerie included, continues in both solids and prints.

Soft to the touch and light in weight is this light tan topcoat in British woolen Couvert Venetian cloth.

Fine for spring evenings is V-neck collared sweater with bow trim. Here, it's worn with a filmy chiffon skirt for dancing, goes equally well with Capri pants for at-home entertaining.

Spring Hats Are Lighter

The new mens' spring felt hats are so light that a fellow may have to look in a mirror to make sure that he isn't bareheaded. Many of these feather-weight felts can be rolled up and packed, a boon o he raveller who knows he value of aking along exra fel.

The trend to the use of mixture colors in felts in continuing. These colors are achieved by the blending of vari-colored fur before the hat body is felted as opposed to the method of dyeing the felt after the body is formed. This new blending method results in softer, more subtle shades.

Brim widths vary according to the section of the country. Though a larger shape is still favored in some sections, there has been a narrowing down in keeping with the general trend even in these areas. Crowns are lower, too.

Low tops in telescope shapes, center creases and flat tops are still high on the fashion lists. Smart new interpretations of the sporty Tyrolean types combine well with casual outfits, while for active sportswear as well as for motoring, the new smaller cap remains a prime favorite.

Right in line with popular neat, trim shape for spring, is this "Ivy" sports cap in cotton madras.

Color, Big News to Jewelry In Latest Clothing Fashions

Matching of jewelry and clothing fashions is a planned and pretty thing this season, reports the Fashion Coordination Institute.

Color is big news, with jewelry matched to dresses and suits —often in jewel tones such as clear emerald green, soft amethyst or turquoise— or highlighting the predominant hues in beautiful prints.

Another important role of colorful jewelry is as a complementary note for fashions in oasic black, beige, gray or navy.

A new burnished finish for silver and gold gives a fresh look to tailored jewelry. Tiny, tailored jewelry collars are designed to fit the neck gently and provide a fill-in for the popular standaway collars of spring suits.

Necklaces go to new lengths, complementing the easy lines of fashion. Chains, beads, stones in elaborate or tailored settings, or brilliants, hang from twenty to twenty-six inches in the "new look" necklaces. Pendants are important.

* * *

EARRINGS, TOO, head downward, giving emphasis to deep-crowned hats. Larger, round earrings balance spring's tall turbans.

Wider and bulkier is the theme for bracelets.

Pins have new importance, worn in clusters of three and four, or singly in big, bold, beautiful designs.

Length Vary

Coat lengths range from styles so short they resemble boleros to full length models. In between are waist-length coats, often bloused, the ever-popular fingertip-length topper and three-quarter to seven-eighths lengths.

Lounging through spring are new at-home socks with flattering high vamp and metallic trim. One size fits all, thanks to the stretch feature of the socks.

Chemise Coats from Paris Brighten Fashion Scene

From gay, unpredictable Paree come these coats that are the latest fashion news on the sack and chemise horizon.

Dreamed up to go right along with the "roaring twenties" styles, they almost go the dresses and suits one better. But perhaps there is some logic in the toppers for the woman who wants to be top fashion, at first sight and when, thinking better of it, wishes to take off her coat and be a bit more her usual self in a more conservative type outfit underneath.

Maybe we are just dreaming, but it is an idea and might work for those who want to eat their cake and have it, too—fashion wise.

The coats shown here are all of polyester fiber combined with wool, and are very distinctive.

The cocoon has a straight front line with flap pockets, the short boxy model features a boat neckline, and the one with a drawstring hemline has a rounded silhouette.

INGENUE in mood, this dress and topper in a forget-me-not-blue was created by Heim.

Subteen Has Style Choice This Season

Will subteens be wearing the chemise this spring? To this question, fashion's answer is modified "Yes."

In recent seasons, the growing-up girl has won her demand for the grown-up look in clothes and grooming, with the sheath becoming one of her major fashions, and the traditional bouffant dress present in her wardrobe for variety's sake.

However, the sheath is a newer fashion for the subteen than for her older sisters. She may, designers feel, want to stay with the sheath for at least one more season, and let the chemise and its variations join bouffants as novelty and special occasion fashions.

As a result, there's a larger proportion of sheaths among the new spring styles for subteens than is seen in fashion generally. An easier fit for the sheath is evident, as designers seek to win subteen approval of the relaxed look. Middy tops with pleated skirts are another subteen approach to greater ease in fashion.

If the subteen wants to go all out for the chemise, she certainly may, for there are subtle chemises in ample variety, to be worn with or without belts.

* * *

GENTLE FITTING helps to make the otherwise-loose lines of the chemise flattering to budding figures. Skirts are tapered for fit across the hips, and usually, shoulder width is provided in some fashion — by puffed sleeves, for instance, or neckline and shoulder details.

Classic styles and colors for coats stand high in favor among subteens, but here again, semi-fitted coats have fresh look that is certain to appeal to many. For fabrics, supple wool jerseys rival tweeds.

Since this age group is showing more interest in full-length coats, subteen spring toppers appear principally in combination with skirts.

Costumes and suits for the subteener reflect fashion-wide trends, with such components as easy dresses or skirts plus bloused-back jackets, low and loosely belted longer jackets and tapered bo jackets.

Maybe we are just dreaming, but it is an idea and might work for those who want to eat their cake and have it, too—fashion wise.

The cocoon has a straight front line with flap pockets, the short boxy model features a boat neckline, and the one with a drawstring hemline has a rounded silhouette.

INGENUE in mood, this dress and topper in a forget-me-not-blue was created by Heim.

Subteen Has Style Choice This Season

Will subteens be wearing the chemise this spring? To this question, fashion's answer is modified "Yes."

In recent seasons, the growing-up girl has won her demand for the grown-up look in clothes and grooming, with the sheath becoming one of her major fashions, and the traditional bouffant dress present in her wardrobe dress present in her wardrobe for variety's sake.

However, the sheath is a newer fashion for the subteen than for her older sisters. She may, designers feel, want to stay with the sheath for at least one more season, and let the chemise and its variations join bouffants as novelty and special occasion fashions.

As a result, there's a larger proportion of sheaths among the new spring styles for subteens than is seen i nfashion generally. An easier fit for the sheath is evident, as designers seek to win subteen approval of the relaxed look. Middy tops with pleated skirts are another subteen approach to greater ease in fashion.

If the subteen wants to go all out for the chemise, she certainly may, for there are subtle chemises in ample variety, to be worn with or without belts.

* * *

GENTLE FITTING helps to make the otherwise-loose lines of the chemise flattering to budding figures. Skirts are tapered for fit across the hips, nd usually, shoulder width is provided in some fashion — by puffed sleeves, for instance, or neckline and shoulder details.

Classic styles and colors for coats stand high in favor among subteens, but here again, semi-fitted coats hve freh look tht i certain to appeal to many. For fabrics, supple wool jerseys rival tweeds.

Since this age group is showing more interest in full-length coats, subteen spring toppers appear principally in combination with skirts.

Costumes and suits for the subteener reflect fshion-wide trends, with such components as easy dresses or skirts plus bloused-back jackets, low and loosely belted longer jackets and tapered bo jackets.

New Swim Suits Turn Back to 20s

Fashion habitually goes in cycles, and this time it has made the full turn back to the flapper mood of the "Twenties," when the uninhabited and uncorseted look was the rule.

Nowhere is this influence more pronounced than in the triumphant reappearance of the woolnit bathing suits that have rally taken the plunge on the most fashionable of beaches. Women have received them most happily, because our top outdoor designers have brought new skills to the construction of bathing suits.

Unlike the latest dress styles that deliberately camouflage curves via the chemise, these seaworthy suits fit perfectly and improve on curves with the addition of ingenious devices that help nature a bit.

Along with the slim fit, there are one-piecers with low-slashed arm vents, two-piecers with neat trunks and pullover halters, and fitted tops teamed with short pants.

THE NOVEL halter of this two-piece suit is made like a pull-over sweater. Low back.

Pouch and Satchel Shapes Featured in Spring Handbags

Handbags for spring have a rich, full look. The squares and rectangles have been softened by drapes, pleats or gussets, and there are new pouch and satchel shapes.

For daytime handbags of extra-soft, supple leather, favored hues are black, red, oyster, beige, bright blue and navy. Many have shaped leather handles, slightly longer than last season's. Gilt locks and name plates add interest.

Organized for efficiency, he new handbags have enough inside pockets to held everything— or almost everything— in a special place. Many have outside pockets for coin purses, passports, keys and other paraphenalia. One pouch bag has a recessed section at the top within which adjustable snapped bands hold umbrella or papers.

Suede leather clutches and long oval pouches appear in bright colors such as hibiscus red, orange, urquoise and ho pink. Ofen they're fastened with clips on silver mounting.

Some unusual shapes for smooth leather bags are cartridge boxes, rural mail boxes, dedeed boxes and flower baskets.

Afternoon bags of suede leather show soft, draped shapes in muted taupe and off-black tones. Late day sees the bag smaller and neater with clipped square edges.

Mix, Match Coordinates Are Popular

"Ease" is a word that has long been associated with sportswear, but never more so than this spring, thanks to the influence of the chemise silhouette and oval-effect skirts and jackets.

Favorite casual chemises are slim and tapering, by-passing the waist but fitted through the bust and hips. Especially new-looking are chemise play-dresses which may be worn as a substitute for Bermuda shorts and are about the same length.

Many are reminiscent of the tennis dresses worn during the 1920's, with low-slung belts, camisole tops and pleated skirts.

The chemise influence even extends to chemise playsuits and the pantaloon coverall, an easy-fitting one-piece play fashion with a bateau-neck.

It is also evident in jackets marked by a low blousing above an extremely wide hipband and in the many versions of the overblouse teamed with all manner of pants and slim or pleated skirts.

The popular nautical look is the inspiration for a tidal wave of middies, "officers" jackets, yachting blazers and such trims as braid and brass buttons.

* * *

COLORFUL, distinctive prints are bigger-than-ever favorites in every fabric, including knits.

There are bold madras plaids, tropical island scenes, foliage and flower patterns, harlequin effects, "racing silk" stripes, checks and polka dots, intense batiks and such unusual designs as miniature liquor bottles, chessmen and turtles.

Coordination continues to be popular, with many print and plain combinations and color-matching in the same or different fabrics. Silk is a big favorite, as are knits and jerseys.

Also well-liked are the many easy-care blends and the whole cotton family.

Pretty, popular trims include embroidery and embroidered appliques, and white lace looks refreshing as an accent for dark colored pants and jacket sets.

An Oriental inspiration is evident in Indian silk separates, such as Rajah coats to be worn over narrow pants, and in blouses with harem midriffs or frog closings.

Cotton to Fashion

Among the many cottons popular for spring sportswear are canvas duck, chambray, denim, gabardine, twills and populins in rugged weaves.

Bake a nut crust for cream pies: press finely ground Brazil nuts, pecans, walnuts, almonds or peanuts mixed with a little sugar on the bottom and sides of a pie pan; bake in hot oven until lightly browned.

Creating a costume look for spring is easy with overblouses such as this polka-dotted silk. It features miniature choir boy collar, cuffed sleeves with button panel, sloped shoulder for good fit.

Gov. O'Neill Returns From Florida Vacation

COLUMBUS (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill returned to Columbus late Tuesday after spending two weeks at Miami Beach. He has been recovering from a mild heart attack suffered Jan. 22.

The governor, with only a trace of suntan (because doctors advised him not to get too much sun), said he will hold a press conference Thursday in his office. It will be the first day in the office for O'Neill since his heart attack.

Hamilton School Chief Sued by U.S. For $3 Million

CINCINNATI (AP)—Leroy R. Zimmer, 61, who operated the Butler-Hamilton Business College in Hamilton, has been sued by the U.S. for almost $3 million.

The government charged in U.S. District Court that $94,948 was paid by it to 109 war veteran students for 1,404 false claims between Sept. 1, 1953 and June 30, 1956. The government asks $2,000 for each claim submitted, plus double damages.

Zimmer was sentenced last July to serve a year in prison and was fined $15,000 for "falsifying school time" for 109 Korean War veterans who were collecting government aid for their education at the business school.

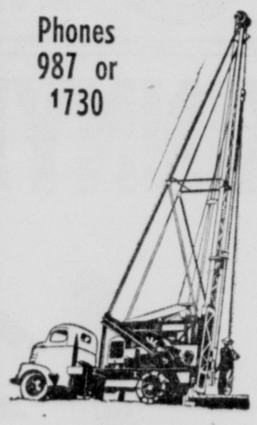

Each veteran was given a six-month suspended sentence.

American Women Pick Most Men's Clothes, Survey Says

From 80 to 90 per cent of American wives play a leading role in selecting the clothing of their husbands and sons, bringing home strongly the responsibility of American women for the way American men dress.

This is the majority opnion of more than 100 women's page editors in United States and Canada, based on a survey conducted by the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

The survey indicates that most women are today sufficiently alarmed about the way their husbands dress to want to do something about it. For instance, 88.5 per cent of the editors, reflecting the opinions of millions of readers from cities, as well as suburbs and farms, say wives are convinced that their husbands would get further in their careers if they paid more attention to the way they dress. By the same overwhelming percentage, they report that many wives believe sloppy appearance can put a damper on the romance in marriage.

Almost 60 per cent of the editors think most wives feel a better dressed husband broadens the family's social life.

* * *

LEADERSHIP in reforming the dress habits of the men must come from the wives, the survey indicates in the following two ways:

According to a whopping 90 per cent of the editors, most wives are certain their judgment of style, fit and color is superior to that of their husbands.

Reassuringly, 82 per cent of the editors say clothing is a family affair, wherein wives and husbands regularly trade opinions and advice on what each wears and buys to wear.

Clearly, here is where the wife who's concerned about the appearance of that man in her life can take her cue. First, however, she might like to match gripes with what wives generally consider the most annoying dress habits of men:

Heading the list is the blissfully pattern - and - color - blind male who pays no attention to coordinating shades and patterns in ties and socks, shirts, shoes, and so on. "Most men," complains one fashion editor, "seem congenitally color-blind."

Equally annoying is the man who somehow manages to look disheveled no matter what the quality of his clothes or his taste in selecting them. He delays getting a needed haircut, fails to shine his shoes, clean his fingernails, or wears shirts with frayed collars and cuffs.

* * *

STILL OTHERS complain about the fellow too lethargic to wear the right suit for the right occasion, who takes a moratorium on weekend shaving, or who leaves clothes on the floor.

Fortunately, the Institute's survey reveals the question of who does the clothes buying is not likely to lead to family rifts. Less than half the editors report any resentment on the part of wives if their husbands go out shopping for new clothes on their own.

A Midwest editor perhaps best sums up the situation with this commonsense approach: "A well dressed man is a happy man. His position in life, as well as his ambition, can be judged by his clothing and the care he takes in dressing."

* * *

For the Bride

Chemise Cloche Stars for Spring

New Influences Seen In Suits

Men's suits for Spring '58 present many looks. Newly important is the "American" look, emphasizing some shoulder padding and indentation. At the same time, the "Ivy" type models, continue popular with the younger set, and will carry a sloping type of shoulder with a minimum of padding.

The three breasted jacket is by far the most popular. However there are two- and four-button models to satisfy the style preferences of all men.

Trousers are trim and tapered. Slim men prefer the plain front while the more portly look best in the pleated front.

For the early season there are lighter-weight worsted flannels in stripes as well as solid shades, luxurious mill finished worsteds in subtle self-patterns as well as in subdued plaids and novelty effects, and gabardines in natural shades of tan supplemented by greens, blues, grays and browns. Sleek, hard finished sharkskins — in pure worsteds and blends of silk and worsted — are another springtime favorite.

The popularity of the silk suit has grown to the point where many men step forth in such finery as soon as the snow is off the ground. There are now reproductions made of blends of natural and test-tube fibers that offer excellent reproductions of the efforts of the silk worm.

* * *

AS THE DAYS grow longer and warmer, the shift to tropical weight suits will emphasize the great popularity of feather-weight suiting fabrics.

Supplementing the tropicals, blended of science fibers and worsteds are washwear blends of natural and man-made fibers, and a brand new entry made of a blend of test-tube fibers, which is frequently tailored into garments that are called "automatic washwear." These can be put through the entire wash-and-dry cycles of certain washing machines and emerge pressed and ready to wear.

Medium shades of gray, tan, blue-gray and green will be the tops in spring and summer suit colors. These will be followed by dark shades with navy blue continuing its strong comeback. Light colors will finish in third place this year except in the cord suits where they are always a summer favorite.

Topcoats for spring feature soft herringbones, smoother cheviots and coverts in softer, muted tones. Coats are shorter and follow classic lines. Style leader is the single-breasted or fly-front model.

Sports jacket fabrics range from rugged-looking wool tweed for spring's cool days to wool challis for the warmer days ahead. Plaids, checks and herringbones are smaller. Stripes stay muted.

The slim look prevails in lightweight wool slacks. New details include the western-type checker pocket and the three-quarter top pocket. Fabrics run the gamut from flannels to finer sheer weaves of wool-worsted, as the weather gets warmer.

In sports shirts, there will be plenty of button-down models in miniature plaids, checks, foulard patterns and stripes for the "Ivy" group, along with silky textures, bold prints and novelty constructions for everybody else.

Well-coordinated for spring are mid-heel shoes with one-eyelet tie and large but graceful handbag, both of matching smooth and suede leathers in hues of green. Matching gloves have black leather rick-rack border.

Dressing Up

Very new-looking for dressy wear are sheaths veiled by overchemises of sheer chiffon.

Linings Are Lively

Brilliantly colored linings provide a surprise contrast in jackets topping skirts or chemise-influenced dresses.

Colors Refresh

Chemise Looks Good on Most Matrons, Too

So you think you can't wear a chemise?

Take a look at Mrs. Charlotte Winters, saleslady for dress manufacturer Abe Schrader, who got tired of hearing buyers say:

"I'll order the chemise in sizes up to 14, but none larger."

Mrs. Winters is a woman of strong convictions. She felt if a new style is good, everybody should wear it. So she bought a chemise dress from the line and has been wearing it in the showroom, demonstrating to buyers that the new fashion need not be limited to mere wisps of girls with broomstraw figures.

* * *

MRS. WINTERS is a woman of generous proportions. She is 5 feet 8 and wears a size 20 dress. Buyers had been steering firmly away from the new sack styles for larger women until they saw Charlotte in her chemise. Then things changed.

The buyers came, saw and captitualated. Orders for chemises in sizes 18 and 20 picked up briskly.

Mrs. Winters picked one of the most extreme styles on the line—a completely unfitted sack dress, buttoned down the front, with a cocoon envelope back. She was careful to see that it fitted perfectly at shoulders, bust and hipline. When she wore it in the salon the first day, the comments were unanimous:

"It honestly makes you look thinner!"

Charlotte points out to buyers that a woman usually can wear a chemise in a size smaller than her usual dress size, and this is good for morale.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

- Leg Length
- Nailbiting
- Baby's Cry
- Repeat Polio

Q. Can one leg be shorter than the other without causing noticeable limp?

A. Yes, but if one leg is very much shorter the person will walk with a peculiar gait. Even a little difference in leg length can cause trouble. When one leg is shorter than the other the pelvis tilts. Leg and back muscles are put under stress and become painful. If the condition is not corrected the spine will be pulled out of line causing curvature with shoulder drop. Doctors watch for uneven leg length in children and, when necessary, prescribe corrective shoes. They also consider unequal leg length when grown-ups complain of having had "bad backs" or leg trouble for many years.

Q. How can nailbiting be stopped?

A. Nailbiting is a sign of nervousness and tension. Overcome these and nailbiting stops. Nagging and punishment won't help and it does no good to apply bitter drugs to the nails.

Q. Can you tell whether a baby is sick by the way he cries?

A. Sometimes, but watch out for the baby who is too sick to cry. The child who looks sick but just whimpers may be in serious trouble. Babies can get sick in a hurry. If there is any doubt, call a doctor.

Q. Can polio strike the same person twice?

A. Yes. There are three main types of polio virus, and disease due to one will not necessarily induce resistance against the others. There are reports in the medical literature of second attacks of polio.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

American Women Pick Most Men's Clothes, Survey Says

From 80 to 90 per cent of American wives play a leading role in selecting the clothing of their husbands and sons, bringing home strongly the responsibility of American women for the way American men dress.

This is the majority opnion of more than 100 women's page editors in United States and Canada, based on a survey conducted by the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

The survey indicates that most women are today sufficiently alarmed about the way their husbands dress to want to do something about it. For instance, 88.5 per cent of the editors, reflecting the opinions of millions of readers from cities, as well as suburbs and farms, say wives are convinced that their husbands would get further in their careers if they paid more attention to the way they dress. By the same overwhelming percentage, they report that many wives believe sloppy appearance can put a damper on the romance in marriage.

Almost 60 per cent of the editors think most wives feel a better dressed husband broadens the family's social life.

* * *

LEADERSHIP in reforming the dress habits of the men must come from the wives, the survey indicates in the following two ways:

According to a whopping 90 per cent of the editors, most wives are certain their judgment of style, fit and color is superior to that of their husbands.

Reassuringly, 82 per cent of the editors say clothing is a family affair, wherein wives and husbands regularly trade opinions and advice on what each wears and buys to wear.

Clearly, here is where the wife who's concerned about the appearance of that man in her life can take her cue. First, however, she might like to match gripes with what wives generally consider the most annoying dress habits of men:

Heading the list is the blissfully pattern - and - color - blind male who pays no attention to coordinating shades and patterns in ties and socks, shirts, shoes, and so on. "Most men," complains one fashion editor, "seem congenitally color-blind."

Equally annoying is the man who somehow manages to look disheveled no matter what the quality of his clothes or his taste in selecting them. He delays getting a needed haircut, fails to shine his shoes, clean his fingernails, or wears shirts with frayed collars and cuffs.

* * *

STILL OTHERS complain about the fellow too lethargic to wear the right suit for the right occasion, who takes a moratorium on weekend shaving, or who leaves clothes on the floor.

Fortunately, the Institute's survey reveals the question of who does the clothes buying is not likely to lead to family rifts. Less than half the editors report any resentment on the part of wives if their husbands go out shopping for new clothes on their own.

A Midwest editor perhaps best sums up the situation with this commonsense approach: "A well dressed man is a happy man. His position in life, as well as his ambition, can be judged by his clothing and the care he takes in dressing."

For the Bride

Chemise Cloche Stars for Spring

New Influences Seen In Suits

Men's suits for Spring '58 present many looks. Newly important is the "American" look, emphasizing some shoulder padding and indentation. At the same time, the "Ivy" type models, continue popular with the younger set, and will carry a sloping type of shoulder with a minimum of padding.

The three breasted jacket is by far the most popular. However there are two- and four-button models to satisfy the style preferences of all men.

For the early season there are lighter-weight worsted flannels in stripes as well as solid shades, luxurious mill finished worsteds in subtle self-patterns as well as in subdued plaids and novelty effects, and gabardines in natural shades of tan supplemented by greens, blues, grays and browns. Sleek, hard finished sharkskins — in pure worsteds and blends of silk and worsted — are another springtime favorite.

The popularity of the silk suit has grown to the point where many men step forth in such finery as soon as the snow is off the ground. There are now reproductions made of blends of natural and test-tube fibers that offer excellent reproductions of the efforts of the silk worm.

* * *

AS THE DAYS grow longer and warmer, the shift to tropical weight suits will emphasize the great popularity of feather-weight suiting fabrics.

Supplementing the tropicals, blended of science fibers and worsteds are washwear blends of natural and man-made fibers, and a brand new entry made of a blend of test-tube fibers, which is frequently tailored into garments that are called "automatic washwear." These can be put through the entire wash-and-dry cycles of certain washing machines and emerge pressed and ready to wear.

Medium shades of gray, tan, blue-gray and green will be the tops in spring and summer suit colors. These will be followed by dark shades with navy blue continuing its strong comeback. Light colors will finish in third place this year except in the cord suits where they are always a summer favorite.

Topcoats for spring feature soft herringbones, smoother cheviots and coverts in softer, muted tones. Coats are shorter and follow classic lines. Style leader is the single-breasted or fly-front model.

Sports jacket fabrics range from rugged-looking wool tweed for spring's cool days to wool challis for the warmer days ahead. Plaids, checks and herringbones are smaller. Stripes stay muted.

THIS BROWN-AND-WHITE hound's tooth check, with far-flung city and country potentials, is tailored in tissue tweed.

Tweedy Plaids Fill Bill For Spring

With the spring season right upon us, it is time to take a look at some new suits designed for the happy months to come.

The ones shown were selected because we felt that they will be sure to be happily received in anybody's wardrobe, whether you are a city dweller or a suburbanite.

A Scotch, check has an easy, fitted, pocketed jacket and a slender skirt.

Another that is sure to be a favorite is of blue tweed. It has a slim skirt and tailored jacket with a fly front closing.

A third smart suit has a Glen plaid jacket with notched collar and bone button detail that is teamed with a straight skirt of gray with a black slub.

Upswept Hat Perfect for Latest Styles

The peak of the dashing, casually-chic chemise costume for spring is the upswept hat that focuses attention on your face. The high, off-face roundness of the roller-breton and the full-blown chemise cloche make a perfect balance for the tapering, narrow lines of the costume.

In a season of colorful clothes, the bright-colored hat is more "basic" than black. As the high point of a figure-skipping suit or dress of neutral beige or grey, try a blazing brightness of straw in orange, red or yellow. Subtly lighten the violent color of a spring suit with a blouse and hat of shadowed red, blue or yellow print laced with white. Punctuate a narrow coat of navy wool with a soaring turban of dotted silk or a fez of fragile silk anemones shading from violet to pink.

The tall-crowned cloche with the narrow brim is only vaguely reminiscent of the one worn by Clara Bow. With its headband resting high on the hairline, the 1958 chemise cloche shows rather than smothers the face. But its high, loafty look harmonizes attractively with soft, subtly shaped modern versions of the chemise dress.

Easy - waisted, loose - fitting suits take neatly to snug, off-face cloches, rolled-back bretons and high, native-inspired turbans. Coats and tailleurs with controlled fullness toward the back need the balance of a forward-reaching brim, arched high bonnet-fashion or abbreviated at the back by a folded-up Watteau brim.

Attractive, important - looking hats are demanded by the understated new clothes of spring 1958. And for the woman whose legs are less than long stemmed "American beauties," flattering, face-framing hats have become a necessity.

Go Nautical

Let's Take Nostalgic Trip Around 20th Century Lot

By BOB THOMAS

We'd better do it now, because there's no telling when bull-dozers will come in and level all those wonderful old sets. They are bowing in the face of progress as the film company converts the valuable acreage into a mammoth Century City. That's okay if you like skyscrapers. I get a bigger kick out of the movie buildings with no backs to them.

"A lot of the old buildings will be destroyed," explained George Dudley, veteran of the studio art department who accompanied the tour. "They can't be moved like ordinary buildings because they're only fronts. The ones that are worth saving will be cut into 20-foot squares and trucked to our ranch in Malibu."

We drove past a wooden building which Dudley explained was the first structure on the lot. It was the stable where Tom Mix kept Tony and other nags; now the studio armory, it will be felled to make room for new sound stages.

To the north of the studio is Tombstone, a western town originally built for a Randy Scott film, "Frontier Marshal." The picture was a flop, but the set was a hit, repeating for "The Ox-Bow Incident," "The Gunfighter" and scores of other horse operas.

Some of the other landmarks: a replica of Grauman's Chinese Theater, built for "Dancing in the Dark"....White Chapel Street, the London locale made for "Hangover Square"....Chicago Lake, created for "In Old Chicago" and later the waterfront of many a city....Beacon Street, which dates from "The Late George Apley" to the current "10 North Frederick"....

French Square, home of "Forever Amber"....the Railroad Shed, built for "The Return of Frank James"....the Roman circus of "Demetrius and the Gladiators," more recently the scene of the Boar's Head dance in "South Pacific."

"This is the waterway," said Dudley, pointing to green-lined channels built as the Erie Canal in 'The Farmer Takes a Wife." "It's the most beautiful part of the lot, and I'm going to miss it."

So will I.

New Layoff Planned

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — International Harvester Co. announced Tuesday it plans to lay off 375 workers at its Springfield, Ohio, plant because of falling demand.

U.S. Ambassador Amory Haughton to France was formerly chairman of the board of the Corning (N.Y.) Glass Works.

New Hats Are High and Perky

A tall-crowned sailor of snowy white toyo straw is designed by Walter K. Marks. The brim curls high around a wide band of orange grosgrain ribbon.

First report on spring sport coats: At left: Soft wool striped herringbone coat in gray and blue features the "American" look with some shoulder padding. At right: brown-checked all-wool "Ivy" coat has three flapped pockets (slanted) and one-button cuffed sleeves.

Lively Colors Win Popularity In Fashion's

Call them tropic coloss, call them hot, call them Tahitian or Impressionist. Whatever the name, the colors of spring's fashion palette are vibrantly alive and bubbling with excitement.

Two color families vie for the spotlight. One is orange, yellow, and red, the other blue and green.

Orange in all its shades is the darling of fashion's new color spree. In marigold, sherbert, apricot and pumpkin tones, in all possible shades between pink and lemon yellow, orange appears in everything.

Their cousins, the blues, find strong favor in vibrant shades of Bristol glass, ceramic tones, sea shades, and purple casts.

Not to be forfotten are the neutrals notably navy and black, the brown to yellow beige family, and delicate pearl grey.

First Commercial Fishing Recorded

CLEVELAND (AP) — The fishing boat Shark recorded Cleveland's first catch of the commercial fishing season Tuesday. The haul from Lake Erie was 40 pounds of pickerel.

Fred Wittal, part owner of the boat, doubted whether it was worth the effort.

"The ice was miserable," he said. "It took us 25 minutes just to get to the mouth of the harbor."

Fire Leaves Family Of 11 Homeless

One family member, Mrs. Peggy Neeley, 27, said she was twice rebuffed by party line telephoners when she tried to call the fire department.

Mrs. Neeley, who discovered the blaze and got everyone out safely, said she finally called firefighters from a nearby home.

Lively Colors Win Popularity In Fashion's

Call them tropic coloss, call them hot, call them Tahitian or Imprssionist. Whatever the name, the colors of spring's fashion palette are vibrantly alive and bubbling with excitement.

Two color families vie for the spotlight. One is orange, yellow, and red, the other blue and green.

Orange in all its shades is the darling of fashion's new color spree. In marigold, sherbert, apricot and pumpkin tones, in all possible shades between pink and lemon yellow, orange appears in everything.

Their cousins, the blues, find strong favor in vibrant shades of Bristol glass, ceramic tones, sea shades, and purple casts.

Not to be forfotten are the neutrals notably navy and black, the brown to yellow beige family, and delicate pearl grey.

First Commercial Fishing Recorded

CLEVELAND (AP) — The fishing boat Shark recorded Cleveland's first catch of the commercial fishing season Tuesday. The haul from Lake Erie was 40 pounds of pickerel.

Fred Wittal, part owner of the boat, doubted whether it was worth the effort.

"The ice was miserable," he said. "It took us 25 minutes just to get to the mouth of the harbor."

Fire Leaves Family Of 11 Homeless

One family member, Mrs. Peggy Neeley, 27, said she was twice rebuffed by party line telephoners when she tried to call the fire department.

Mrs. Neeley, who discovered the blaze and got everyone out safely, said she finally called firefighters from a nearby home.

Subdebs Outline Their Own Rules for True Loveliness

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

What are the beauty secrets of young, pretty girls, the subdebs who always seem to be full of pep, surrounded by members of the opposite sex and popular with other girls? Here are some of the reasons for loveliness, or so the girls believe:

1. Get to bed early, in time to get eight hours sleep, unless you have an important appointment. Never stay up late unless you have a good reason, surely not to watch TV or see someone with whom you are just "killing time."

2. Remove every speck of makeup from the face before going to bed. Air your room before you go to bed. Wear comfortable night clothes for a restful sleep.

3. Take a vital interest in life and just don't "pass through."

4. Avoid reading in inadequate light as much as possible to ward off eye circles and eye strain.

5. Watch the food intake. Avoid freakish diets. Learn to enjoy basic foods that are necessary to health. An occasional pizza pie will not kill you, one girl advises, but a steady diet of imbalanced foods may pad your frame with excess weight.

6. Keep skin clean. If skin is dry, a light coating of baby oil at night will supply needed lubrication. Apply it with a cotton ball before going to bed. Do not slather makeup over blemishes, as it will clog the pores.

7. Get as much outdoor exercise as possible in every season. Be sure to protect the skin against overexposure to sun in summer and to cold and winds in winter. A light coat of oil over the skin before going outdoors should serve the purpose, providing the product is meant for that purpose.

8. Be yourself as far as looks go. It is true there are charm lessons to be learned from older girls, models and Hollywood stars one sees in the news. But do not apply glamor tricks to yourself unless they are suited to your type. A coiffure that is too grown up for you will make you look ridiculous rather than achieving the charm goal you seek.

9. Try to see the pleasant side of a situation, rather than going out of your way to examine every facet of a gloomy aspect that dims your view.

10. Mind your own business. This is one of the most valuable tips of all in developing an attractive personality. People who worry about the personal affairs of other people are just busybodies, and they look it.

Ohio Sewage Plants Double In 5 Years

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In the last five years Ohio cities and villages practically doubled the amount of municipal sewage treatment, the annual report of the state water pollution control board showed today.

In the fall of 1952, when Ohio's new water pollution control law took effect, all existing municipal sewage plants had a total capacity of 574,909,000 gallons a day. This capacity rose to 1,117,299,000 by the end of last year. This includes plants in operation and those under construction and nearly finished.

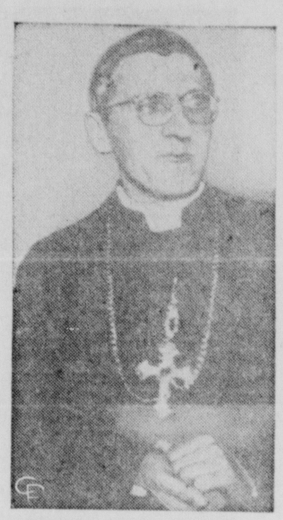

The report shows that during the five-year period, 37 cities and 39 villages enlarged or replaced their plants while 31 cities and 54 villages built new plants.

Twenty eight cities still lack sewage treatment facilities, the board reported. But 16 of these have started building plants and still others are expected to begin shortly. The board said 97 villages still need sewage plants and 23 of these are building them.

The board said 493 industries have installed waste treatment facilities. Of that number, 337 have facilities considered adequate and the others need some improvements. While 126 industries have no treatment facilities, 51 have facilities under construction, 51 have plans for facilities and 23 are working on plans.

Continued Slump To Hurt Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP)—"If the depression goes on, Ohio farmers will be badly hurt," Maurice Wieting, information director of the Ohio Farm Bureau, told the bureau's delegates here Tuesday.

"Forty per cent of Ohio farmers have part time jobs in industry," Wieting asserted. "They're probably losing more of their jobs than city people with full-time work."

Delegates from the Ohio Farm Bureau annually visit Washington to tell congressmen the kind of legislation they want.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: This is a most embarrassing question, but I do need an objective opinion and I don't know whom I could possibly ask, unless you. Is there such a thing as a frigid person?

I am a girl in my late twenties and I have no trouble attracting men. The problem is how to hold their interest. I never have lacked dates, and still don't—probably because I am (fortunately) a very good dancer, a better than average athlete and I have a great capacity for enjoying life.

But as a sweetheart I am a complete flop. When a man attempts to kiss me goodnight he gets about as much response as he would from a marble statue. I have no emotion whatever; I just absolutely freeze up.

I simply can't understand girls who have a wonderful time, so they say, petting on a first date. I am not condemning them; perhaps I am almost envious, as I've never had any impulse towards that sort of thing, even after months of dating a man.

Yet the sad part is that I want very much to be loved, and to marry—but what man could be interested in a girl like me? I have gone out with a good many men, and for lengthy periods. And they have really liked me, and I them. But they can't possibly understand, and frankly neither can I, why I have no emotion whatever.

Am I just one of those people who are to be denied the glamor of love or romance? Or do you think some knight in shining armor will show up, to arouse a storm of feeling in me? Any help or advice will be greatly appreciated.

A.E.

DEAR A.E.: If the experts are to be believed, there are masses of frigid persons. If you do much reading, you can hardly avoid running into chatty statistical reports on the subject.

Human interest writers for the women's magazines, as well as professional researchers in the field of psychological phenomena, are perennially bringing the public up-to-date on the status of women's reactions (or lack of same) to the other sex.

And it seems to me that almost invariably their story is that approximately half the female population of the nation is found (on the basis of confidential testimony) to be frigidly inclined, rather than amative, in circumstances that favor lovemaking.

So far as I know, the root reasons for this half dead attitude haven't been fully deciphered and defined, as yet. But I surmise that frigidity in women is due in large measure to an unconscious mixture of fear, resentment and hostility towards men; and unconscious disparagement of self on the lady's part.

In short, she operates on a blind conviction—ingrained far beneath the level of reason—that men don't really like women; or at least not herself. Hence she is profoundly on guard against the possibility of spontaneous behavior, in dealing with them. She has locked up her feelings in self defense, lest they play her false—and lead to humiliation, exploitation, heartbreak, defeat, etc., in relation to men.

Consequently, in dating companionship with a man, she is emotionally frozen. She is a shell of a woman, depersonalized in her social responses. She dances, talks, laughs, shares games, etc., but her essential self doesn't figure if the exchange. She is a stranger to warmhearted cherishing sentiments of appreciation of the man's masculinity, as a wondrous complement to her feminity. Thus eventually he feels unwanted and in fact repelled, and turns elsewhere for reassurance of his worth.

Isn't this somewhat the gist of your failure with men?

I doubt that a knight in shining armor will ever appear, to take the initiative in rescuing you. More likely, you'll have to hack your own way out of the thicket of fear, with psychiatric guidance, if you want to be free to enjoy a full range of womanly feeling.

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP)—Speaking in the hometown of Gov. C. William O'Neill, Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic candidate for governor, Tuesday warned against "the politican who comes before you promising special treatment for your area when his obligation is to the entire state."

"The growth, the prosperity, the future of Ohio requires an integrated program in which the welfare of every county and every area must receive consideration."

Jerry Lucas Is All-Ohio For 3rd Year

Middletown's Star Is Unanimous Choice In Statewide Vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Lucas, Middletown's scintillating senior, today became the first player in history to make The Associated Press Class AA All-Ohio high school basketball team three years in a row.

The 6-10 youngster was the unanimous choice of hundreds of coaches, sports writers and officials who voted in the annual choosing of the jewels from the 387 larger schools. No player has ever dominated the balloting as did Lucas in the current voting.

Warren (Porky) Scholler of Hamilton, coach of Middletown's friendliest enemy, summed up Lucas like this:

"He's the greatest player in the world. He can do everything well, and he's the best at rebounding and shooting. He's a very fine gentleman, and a coach's dream."

In the little space on the ballot in which a player's year in school was to be noted, Scholler penned: "Senior—thank goodness!"

Lucas, who holds every state tournament scoring record — and will probably add to them this weekend as the Middies go after their third straight crown — has some fine teammates on the All-Ohio. With Lucas leading the way with a 33.1 average for the 18 pretourney games on which the selections were based, the first string All-Ohio averaged 145.2 points per contest.

With the Middletown star are Mel Nowell of Columbus East (30.7), John Havlicek of Bridgeport (29.6), Jerry Hallabrin of Mansfield (28.6) and Charley Jones of Canton McKinley (23.1).

Hallabrin, who stands only 5 feet 6, is almost a foot and a half shorter than Lucas. The other three top the six-foot mark, Nowell being 6-2 and the other two 6-4.

Only three of the top 15 on the all-state squad will appear in the state meet this weekend. They are Lucas and teammate Tom Sizer of Middletown, the latter a second team choice, and Cleveland East Tech's jump-shot artist, Jim Stone, also on the second team.

Several players have made the big school All-Ohio two years in a row. Glenn Barker of New Philadelphia made it in 1940 and 1941; Bill Herman of Dover in 1941 and 1942, Shelby Linville of Middletown and Dick Messner of Ashland in 1947 and 1948, Ken McCally of Mansfield in 1950 and 1951, and Jim Darrow of Akron South in 1955 and 1956.

Columbus North of the weekend state tourney cast placed Jim Doughty and Dan Wherry on the honorable mention list, while Zanesville's 1926-1955 state Steve McGlade and Mervin McCoy in the same category. Ken Glenn of East Tech also made honorable mention, giving the tournament schools plenty of talent to place on display.

Announcement of the all-state team was delayed until tournament week at the request of the Ohio High School Basketball Coaches Assn.

Lame Back Baltimore Hurler Suffering Additional Woes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The hazards of spring baseball training were emphasized Tuesday when Jack Harshman, lame back pitcher traded to Balitmore by the Chicago White Sox, was stung by a scorpion. This was one of a series of ailments reported from the cactus and grapefruit front.

The poisonous insect apparently crawled into Harshman's uniform and stung him in the small of the back as he was dressing. Harshman, who said recently he would be able to pitch the entire season if his back didn't bother him any more than at present, was treated and then watched Charlie Beamon and Skinny Brown shut out the San Francisco Giants 1-0 on eight hits.

Examinations by a neurologist and head X-rays were ordered for Dusty Rhodes, Giants outfielder and 1954 World Series star, who has been complaining of severe headaches for two weeks.

Dick Drott, Chicago Cubs pitcher, was bumped at the plate by Gene Woodling of the Cleveland Indians and in falling sprained his ankle. He will be sidelined from a week to 10 days.

Clem Labine, Los Angeles relief hurler, was struck on the right ankle by Bob Cerv's drive and may be out a week or more. The Dodgers beat the Kansas City A's 5-4 in 10 innings.

The Dodgers won the game at from Vero Beach, Fla., where Duke Snider batted for the first time in spring training. Duke, who was operated on for removal of cartilage in his left knee after the 1957 season, grounded to second and displayed fair speed and no limp as he ran to first base. This was a game where the Dodgers "B" team defeated Spokane of the Coast League 3-2.

Joe Ginsberg, Baltimore catcher, led off the seventh with a double and moved to second when Brooks Robinson walked. Lennie Green ran for Ginsberg, and both runners advanced on an infield hit. Green tallied the winning run when Brown rolled out to the pitcher in the game at Scottsdale, Ariz.

Cleveland defeated the Cubs 6-4 when Fred Hatfield drove in two runs in the fifth inning with a triple. The Indians "B" team also beat the Cubs "B" squad 5-3.

The Dodgers won th egame at West Palm Beach, Fla., when Gino Cimoli walked, Elmer Valo sacrificed and Gil Hodges singled Cimoli home.

The St. Louis Cardinals got only four hits, but defeated the Boston Red Sox 3-2 in 10 innings at Sarasota, Fla. Gene Green, rookie catcher, doubled to score Curt Flood in the 10th. Ed Kasko's single then scored Green.

Two Washington pitchers, Ralph Lumenti and Camilo Pascual, scattered five Chicago White Sox hits and the Senators pounded out a 10-0 decision at Tampa, Fla.

Four Philadelphia home runs gave the Phillies a 6-3 verdict over the Cincinnati Redlegs at Clearwater, Fla. Harvey Haddix, a former Phil, was the victim as Wally Post, Rip Repulski, Frank Herrera and Willie Jones clouted round-trippers.

Shortstop Tony Kubek drove in three runs and scored three as the New York Yankees defeated the Detroit Tigers 7-3 at St. Petersburg, Fla., for their fifth straight victory. Kubek had four hits, two of them triples.

Big Advantage Given Seattle In NCAA Test

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Seattle University, due to arrive today, comes to the NCAA basketball championships with one of the biggest advantages of any of the four teams.

The Chieftains are the only team who have played in huge 18,500-seat Freedom Hall. San Francisco handed them one of their five defeats here last December in the Blue Grass Tournament.

But Seattle is also the only team which had to win three games to get to Louisville and Friday night's second game against Kansas State.

Coach John Castellani said Tuesday "our biggest problem is overcoming weariness." Castellani realized Kansas State has a 3 or 4-inch height advantage, "but their hearts aren't any bigger than ours."

Kansas State Coach Tex Winter says he has problems too. "This looks like a frame-up, to us, meeting that Elgin Baylor after having played against great players like Chamberlain and Robertson," he said jokingly.

Baylor is the No. 2 scorer in the nation and Kansas State had to face the other two top scorers, Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati on the way here.

NO DICE!—Lew Burdette, three-game winner in last year's World Series, signals "No agreement!" as he walks away from Braves Field in Bradenton, Fla., following a long conference with John Quinn, the Milwaukee club's general manager, over contract matters. (International)

Celtics, Hawks Set To Defend Titles

BOSTON (AP)—The champion Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks open defense of their division titles in the National Basketball Assn. playoffs tonight.

The Celtics entertain the Philadelphia Warriors while the Hawks play host to the Detroit Pistons. Each series is the best-of-seven.

Philadelphia Tuesday night eliminated the Syracuse Nats 101-88 before 4,119 at Syracuse. The Warriors, in taking the best-of-3 series, 2-1, scored their first victory over the Nats on the Syracuse court this year behind Paul Arizin's 25 points. Dolph Schayes flipped in 26 for the losers.

Nuxhall Tells How Reds To Win Flag

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Southpaw Joe Nuxhall figures a pennant for Cincinnati is a cinch.

He said Tuesday: "If Brooks Lawrence can regain his 1956 form and I'm successful in recapturing my 1955 form, we'd post a total of 36 victories. I look for Harvey Haddix to win 15 and Bob Purkey should bag the same number. Hal Jeffcoat should be good for 10. That's 76 victories."

But what if Lawrence and Nuxhall should have a big slump? The veteran lefthander said with a grin: "Well, there'd be no other way—Haddix would have to win at least 30 and Purkey about the same number."

Tourney Set At WHS Gym

An independet basketball tournament will be held in Williamsport starting Monday and lasting through Saturday.

Approximately 16 teams are expected to compete. Although most entries are completed there still is time for other teams to make arrangements for participation.

Games will be played in the Williamsport High School gym. Prizes will be awarded to the first three place winners.

Many of the teams entered are composed of former area high school stars.

Indians Sparkle In Doube Play

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Fielding has been one of the weak spots of the Cleveland infield in recent seasons, but in seven exhibition games this spring the Indians' inner defense has executed 14 double plays.

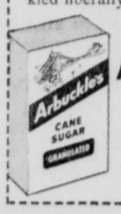

Billy Moran at second base has figured in 13 of the plays, starting two and pivoting on 11. Tabbed as a weak hitter, the rookie from San Diego is leading the club in batting and appears to be the man to beat for the second base job.

The Indians' veteran second sacker, Bobby Avila, has been shifted to third base and so far has failed to impress Manager Bobby Bragan at that spot with his fielding.

Commission Holds Meeting On Softball

W. C. Derexson, 528 E. Union St., softball commissioner for District No. 8 which includes Pickaway County, attended a recent meeting of the Ohio Amateur Softball commissioners in Columbus.

An important item of business during the meeting was the transfer of Jackson County from District No. 12 to Derexson's Eighth District.

Th eurgop voted that the men's softball regional and district tournaments will be held in Toledo this year. The Men's World Tournament will be held in Minneapolis, Minn., in September.

Women's regional and state tournaments will be held in Springfield in August. Their world tournament will be in Bridgeport, Conn., in August and September.

Derexson said a Men's Slow Pitch World Tournament will be held in Cleveland in August and September.

Head for Hills; McDaniel Pitching

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—In Hollis, Okla. the cotton farmers take to the hills when the Mc Daniel boys are listed as probable pitchers. Most of the home radios can't pick up the station that airs the St. Louis games. But they can pull it in on their car radios in the highlands.

"We're out there in the middle of nowhere, almost," said Lindy, at 22 the older member of the Mc Daniel brother act. "But you can hear the Cardinal games at night if you drive your car up in the hills."

They heard plenty on the car radio last summer as Lindy established himself as a Cardinal mainstay (15-9) and kid brother Von became an 18-year-old phenom (7-5).

Back home in Oklahoma another brother, Kerry Don, is a freshman at little Arnett High School. A lefthander of promise, he hopes to make the act a tripleheader in a few years.

The price on Kerry Don will be $50,000 when the time comes, just the same as the Cards paid Lindy and Von. Mr. McDaniel Sr. has set his own ceiling.

Lindy and Von have studied for the ministry. Von just completed his first term at Abilene Christian, the school that produced Olympic sprint champion Bobby Morrow. Lindy, a husband and father, has two more years to go at Abilene. He did a little preaching during the winter.

The boys were looking back on their glorious summer of 1957 recently after an exhibition game at Al Lang Field.

"A year ago now I was playing for our school in the state basketball tournament," said Von who won't be 19 until April 16. "We won it, too, in Class C."

Lindy listened quietly before volunteering this background:

"The only time we played on the same team (before St. Louis) was in high school. I was a senior and Von was a freshman. He played short stop."

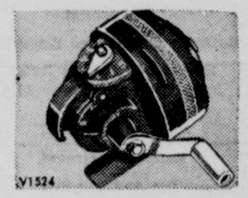

"After Lindy graduated, we needed a pitcher," said Von. "So they made one out of me."

Von broke in with a bang last June. After three scoreless innings on relief in Philadelphia and another shutout bullpen job in Brooklyn, he sht out the Dodgers with two hits in his first start.

They heard plenty on the car radio last summer as Lindy established himself as a Cardinal mainstay (15-9) and kid brother Von became an 18-year-old phenom (7-5).

Back home in Oklahoma another brother, Kerry Don, is a freshman at little Arnett High School. A lefthander of promise, he hopes to make the act a tripleheader in a few years.

The price on Kerry Don will be $50,000 when the time comes, just the same as the Cards paid Lindy and Von. Mr. McDaniel Sr. has set his own ceiling.

Lindy and Von have studied for the ministry. Von just completed his first term at Abilene Christian, the school that produced Olympic sprint champion Bobby Morrow. Lindy, a husband and father, has two more years to go at Abilene. He did a little preaching during the winter.

The boys were looking back on their glorious summer of 1957 recently after an exhibition game at Al Lang Field.

"A year ago now I was playing for our school in the state basketball tournament," said Von who won't be 19 until April 16. "We won it, too, in Class C."

Lindy listened quietly before volunteering this background:

"The only time we played on the same team (before St. Louis) was in high school. I was a senior and Von was a freshman. He played short stop."

"After Lindy graduated, we needed a pitcher," said Von. "So they made one out of me."

Von broke in with a bang last June. After three scoreless innings on relief in Philadelphia and another shutout bullpen job in Brooklyn, he sht out the Dodgers with two hits in his first start.

Basilio, Robinson Slated for Checkup

CHICAGO (AP) — Middleweight champion Carmen Basilio and challenger Sugar Ray Robinson, each confident he'll win Tuesday's title bout, take pre-fight physicals today before the Illinois Athletic Commission.

Robinson arrived Tuesday lacking his usual swagger but not without his personal army which included:

His wife, three sparring partners, two trainers, two managers, a bodyguard, a lawyer, a publicitor, his personal physician, a guy named Soldier Jones and, of the right to compete in Saturday afternoon's final.

Tuesday night Xavier was out for revenge. They lost to Bradley by 35 points in last year's quarterfinals and, said McCafferty, "They weren't going to end our season two years in a row."

The Musketeers, who pulled the NIT's first upset by defeating Niagara last Saturday, turned on the steam early in the second half.

Fordham made a gallant stand against Dayton. The Rams lost to the Flyers by 29 points early in the season. But the Rams must have learned something from that first game. For they led 26-23 at halftime and it took the sharpshooting of sophomore Frank Case and the Bockhorn brothers, Terry and Arlen, to pull Dayton through.

Xavier Quint Chalks Win Over Bradley

NEW YORK (AP)—For a guy who has been "hanged" twice, Jim McCafferty of Xavier is a mighty healthy-looking basketball coach.

His Musketeers from Cincinnati are the big surprises of the National Invitation Tournament. Tuesday night, they upset Bradley's defending champions 72-62 and later were joined in the semifinals by top-seeded Dayton which defeated Fordham 74-70.

Xavier will meet St. Bonaventure in the first semi-final game Thursday night while Dayton will tackle St. John's of New York for

Hoad Regains Edge Over Gonzales

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Lew Hoad regained mastery over Pancho Gonzales Tuesday night and increased his lead in their professional tennis series. Hoad has won 21 matches and Gonzales 18.

Hoad whipped Gonzales 11-9, 6-4, matching his opponent's power and playing steadier all-around tennis. It broke a five-match winning streak for Gonzales.

Pancho Segura increased his lead over Tony Trabert to 13-8 with an 8-6 victory. Hoad and Trabert beat Gonzales and Segura 8-3 in doubles.

Vaughn, Beecham Set for 3rd Bout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Willie Vaughn and Jimmy Beecham, who certainly need no introduction to each other, square off in tonight's televised bout for the Vaughn-Beecham championship.

The two middleweights probably would feel out of place trying to bash in anyone else's brains. Each already has fought twice this year, and each time against the other.

So far the count is even. Vaughn outpointed Beecham in 10 rounds on Feb. 4. Beecham reversed the decision one month later. The odds are ever so slight that Willie will reverse it again tonight.

Actress Confesses Kidnap Story She Told Is Hoax

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Marie McDonald has tearfully denied her story that her estranged husband arranged to have her kidnaped last year.

Elegantly dressed in the new "sack look," Miss McDonald, 34, met Tuesday with law enforcement officers. They questioned her about the story she told two weeks ago in Cincinnati that her husband, wealthy shoeman Harry Karl, masterminded the kidnaping.

Dabbing her eyes with a handkerchief, the actress, known as "The Body" told reporters later:

"Just say that I am retracting the whole story."

Karl called her accusation ridiculous. He took a lie detector test Monday. Later Police Chief William H. Parker said Karl had no guilty knowledge of the kidnaping.

The day after Karl announced he had asked Miss McDonald for a divorce and said he is in love with an unidentified redhead, the actress gave the new version of the kidnaping to reporters in Cincinnati. Later she repeated it to Los Angeles investigators flown to Ohio. She was then doing a night club show in the Cincinnati area.

Tuesday after the conference with Chief Parker, Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson and other officials Miss McDonald told reporters:

"In Cincinnati I had had a threatening telephone call. I had also had a call from my husband in which he was cruel and said he wanted a divorce. I was emotionally upset.

"What I said in Cincinnati is in conflict with the truth, except that Mr. Karl told me he had something to do with it (the kidnaping)."

Second-ranking officer of the lodge, the leading knight, will be Frank Barnhill Jr., operator of Barnhill's Dry Cleaning Co. here. He has served as an officer for five years.

THOMAS replaces John Boggs as trustee. Boggs, long an active worker in the lodge, was elected to be an honorary trustee.

Reelected were Russell Valentine, lodge secretary; and Warren Baker, treasurer.

The four junior chair officers now serving in the lodge have been reappointed by the exalted ruler-elect. They are: Emmitt Wood, esquire; Leo Morgan, chaplain; William Rickey, inner guard; and Richard Plum, organist.

Formal installation of the new officers has been scheduled for April 8. The ceremony, open to Elks and their ladies, will be held at 8 p. m. and will be followed by a luncheon and a dance. There will be no admission charged for any part of the evening's program.

Judge William D. Radcliff will direct the installation ritual, assisted by other past exalted rulers of the local organization.

Actress Confesses Kidnap Story She Told Is Hoax

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Marie McDonald has tearfully denied her story that her estranged husband arranged to have her kidnaped last year.

Elegantly dressed in the new "sack look," Miss McDonald, 34, met Tuesday with law enforcement officers. They questioned her about the story she told two weeks ago in Cincinnati that her husband, wealthy shoeman Harry Karl, masterminded the kidnaping.

Dabbing her eyes with a handkerchief, the actress, known as "The Body" told reporters later:

"Just say that I am retracting the whole story."

Karl called her accusation ridiculous. He took a lie detector test Monday. Later Police Chief William H. Parker said Karl had no guilty knowledge of the kidnaping.

The day after Karl announced he had asked Miss McDonald for a divorce and said he is in love with an unidentified redhead, the actress gave the new version of the kidnaping to reporters in Cincinnati. Later she repeated it to Los Angeles investigators flown to Ohio. She was then doing a night club show in the Cincinnati area.

Tuesday after the conference with Chief Parker, Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson and other officials Miss McDonald told reporters:

"In Cincinnati I had had a threatening telephone call. I had also had a call from my husband in which he was cruel and said he wanted a divorce. I was emotionally upset.

"What I said in Cincinnati is in conflict with the truth, except that Mr. Karl told me he had something to do with it (the kidnaping)."
